Our 100 Years Next

What Will Laval Say?

German Ingenuity

A Flying Honeymoon

—By Arthur Brisbane

JOHN FRANCIS NEYLAN, telephoning across the continent from San Francisco, says for Americans to remember "Britain has had her wonderful 100 years. She has pulled down her flag of gold, and our 100 years are starting. We regret the misfortunes of our British friends, but we need not take to a sick bed, financially, merely because they do.

"Our dollar is on top of the world, and all the efforts of Europe to pull it down will not succeed.

"England has walked out of the money championship as Gene Tunney walked out of the heavyweight championship.

"The United States and the American dollar have inherited the world. The new situation opens up possibilities that this country has never dreamed of.

"And every American with more heart than a newly hatched Leghorn chick should realize it."

Finance asks: "What will Monsieur Laval, intelligent man of France, say when he lands, and what will he said to him?"

He will probably say he would like to have our French war debt cancelled.

He will be asked, perhaps: "If the United States cancels your war debts, will you cancel Germany's reparations?" To that he will reply, being a good, patriotic Frenchman, "CERTAINLY NOT." We made great sacrifices, lost much property, many lives. Germany must pay for them."

Those who knew President Hoover, even a little, think they can imagine what he will reply to that.

Four able bankers, Howell, McCain, Ward and Rentschler, were at work yesterday organizing the $500,000,000 bank pool suggested by President Hoover. The pool will sustain weaker banks, intrinsically sound, but with assets on which it would be difficult to realize suddenly.

When Laval comes from France he will find waiting for him here Charles Farnier of the Bank of France and Lacour-Gayet, head of the bank's economic section.

The French are excellent economists, the Germans also, in their own ingenious way.

The world knows that Germany has paid to France ten million marks, two and one-half billion dollars, in reparations, and many sympathize with poor Germany.

The more sympathetic don't know that while Germany was paying two and one-half billions to France, she borrowed $3,750,000,000 from England and the United States, spending the difference in her favor, one billion and a quarter on magnificent housing projects and many other improvements.

As things stand, Germany has been able to spend one billion and a quarter more than she paid to France.

Such "defeat" is not so bad.

The proud English-speaking races, it it turns out, are not such wonderful business men as they thought they were.

Mrs. Aimee Semple McPherson Hutton came with her husband to New York, where this is written, then flew to Boston, to save souls, depression or no depression.

Mr. Cyrus H. K. Curtis' reporter described Aimee, the soul-saver, as dressed in "an ensemble of powder blue."

How glorious to fly on your honeymoon to a nine-day revival that will send to heaven many that were headed the other way.

You can imagine how Mrs. Aimee when she gets to heaven will surprise some kind lady angel who has been there a long time.

The angel will say, "Now,

SHIRES SOLD TO BRAVES' CHIEFTAIN

"What a Man" Bought From Milwaukee for $10,000 and Catcher Bool

Milwaukee, Wis., Oct. 9 (AP)—The Wisconsin News in a special St. Louis dispatch today said that Arthur (What-a-Man) Shires, sensational Milwaukee American Association first baseman, has been sold to the Boston Braves for $10,000 and Catcher Albert Bool.

Ed Cunningham, Braves secretary, today confirmed the report that the club had purchased Art (What a Man) Shires, Milwaukee first sacker, for $10,000 and Catcher John Bool.

The deal was completed in New York by Judge Fuchs, Tribal proxy.

Shires was eligible to be drafted but he escaped being claimed when the Cincinnati Reds drafted Catcher Clyde Manion from the Brewers, for, according to baseball law, only one player may be drafted from a club in a Double A league.

Shires, who played fine ball but continually broke club rules while with the White Sox from 1928 to 1930, had a great season in Milwaukee.

He led the American Association in hitting with a mark of .364, making 236 hits for a total of 330 bases, scoring 118 runs and knocking in 129 markers.

He behaved exceptionally well with the Brewers and promised to be a model player for any big league magnate who would give him another chance.

As evangelistic tour of the East will follow Aimee McPherson Hutton's revival here. Manager Dunn of the Boston Garden has completed negotiations with her for the tour.

Aimee Semple McPherson Hutton walked into City Hall today and was given a warm reception, an Irish shillelah and a surprise—a suggestion that she turn over half the proceeds of her Boston Garden revival to the city's poor.

"Texas Guinan has promised to; I hope you will do likewise," said the mayor.

"I will if you will take up the collection," replied 'Sister Aimee', as she prefers to be called.

Later, when she had gone, Mayor Curley formally announced that the evangelist had agreed to turn over half the net proceeds to the city's public welfare department.

Aimee's reaction to this announcement, when she heard of it at her hotel, indicated she thought His Honor had "shot over a fast one."

"Oh, for goodness sake," she exclaimed, "I think he was misquoted."

Informed the statement was typewritten, she suggested it may have been a stenographer's mistake.

WELL, NOW, LET'S SEE

"I told him I'd give half, or more than half, if he would come down and take up the collection," she said. "I always give something to charity."

After that she got on the telephone.

Lowell Man Jailed in Auto Death Case

William B. Hood, of Lowell, was sentenced to three months in the House of Correction in Middlesex superior court today for careless operation of an automobile in the accident in which Miss Helen Malloy, of Lowell, was killed as she alighted from a street car in that city Aug. 31. A charge of homicide was not pressed, but Hood was fined $10 for failing to stop for the street car and $25 for driving with faulty brakes.

'HERE AIMEE, YOU'LL NEED IT'

Sister Aimee got two surprises today from Mayor Curley. The one pictured was a shillalah from Ireland, to help her drive the devil out of Boston, and Husband David thought it a dandy. The other surprise was when the mayor took her up on the giving of half her profits to the poor of the city. Sister Aimee said she would if he'd pass the hat at the Garden. And it looks like His Honor would do it. "He put over a fast one," said she when she got her breath. (Staff photo.)

GROVE AND DERRINGER IN MOUND BATTLE

No Runs Scored in First Four Innings; Break Comes in the Fifth

Sportsman Park, St. Louis, Oct 9—The largest crowd ever to see a game in this city—more than 40,000—saw the sixth and possibility last game of the world's series here this afternoon.

"Lefty" Grove and Paul Derringer, rivals in the opening game of the classic, were back on the hill again.

George Earnshaw was due to hurl for the A's, but Connie Mack upset the dope at the last moment and shifted to his southpaw ace.

PITCHERS BOTH GOOD

Each pitcher was supreme for the first three innings, the A's making but one and the Cards but two safeties in that time.

Old Connie Mack upset the dope for the first time in the series by starting Robert Moses Grove, his southpaw ace, instead of George Earnshaw, best of his righthanders.

Grove was hit hard, in both the opening game, which he won, and in the third game, which he lost, leading the critics to believe that Earnshaw, who gave but six hits while losing the second game and only two while winning the fourth, would get the mound assignment this afternoon.

Gabby Street, Cardinal pilot, sent Paul Derringer, his prize rookie, who was knocked out of the box in the first game, back to the hill, just as he had promised.

Derringer was invincible in the opening frame, just as he was in the first start. He fanned Bishop and forced Haas and Cochrane to

15 Witnesses Tell of Fatal Accident

Marlboro, Oct. 9—Fifteen witnesses appeared before Judge James W. McDonald at the inquest into the death of Mrs. Antonio Martino and her two daughters, Mary and Rose, in an automobile accident on Boston-Worcester turnpike Sept. 18.

The chief witness was Thomas McNulty, operator of the truck which, the police say, was parked on the road without lights and into which the automobile containing Mrs. Martino and her children crashed. Judge McDonald will render his decision Oct. 2.

STOCK PRICES GO HIGHER

New York, Oct. 9 (AP)—The securities markets made further advances today, although the movement wavered at times as it encountered profit taking sales.

A momentary sag at the start was checked when railroad stocks lept forward, accompanied by brokerage gossip to the effect that an announcement of the Interstate Commerce Commission's decision o nthe higher freight rate plea would be made over the week-end railroad bonds were also in demand.

The rail shares backed up somewhat, however, whe nit was reported from Washington that President Hoover was studying means of stabilizing railroad bonds, for this was interpreted in some quarters as indicating that whatever relief might be granted by the I. C. C., would be limited.

Some of the extreme rises in the rails ranged from $5 to $8 a share. New York Central sold up $5 to $64.50. Union Pacific up $7.50 to $122.50, and Santa Fe up 5.50 to $119.50, but these advances were later reduced by $1 to $3. Norfolk & Western rose $8, then lost much of its gain.

4 DRY AGENTS HURT IN RAID

Baltimore, Oct. 9 (AP)—Two prohibition agents were so badly injured they were sent to a hospital for treatment and two others were less seriously hurt in a near-riot during a raid on an alleged speakeasy today.

The disturbance was quelled by a detachment of police called by one of the agents, who escaped during the melee. Three men with police records were arrested as a result of the fight and another is being sought.

The fight started when the four agents entered the saloon without a warrant, and advanced to the bar to seize evidence. They were attacked by 50 patrons wielding beer bottles. Though both agents and some of the patrons drew pistols, no shots were fired.

HOOVER TURNS TO RAIL BONDS IN STABILIZING PLAN

ORDERS INQUIRY OF SECURITIES BANKS HOLD

Declining Values Have Forced Issues Off of "Preferred List" of Investments

Washington, Oct. 9 (AP)—Further steps to stabilize the nation's financial structure were taken by President Hoover today with inauguration of an inquiry into possible means of improving the investment value of railroad bonds.

The investigation has been started at the request of banks and mutual associations that have heavy investments in railroad securities.

Hundreds of these institutions, especially in the Middle West, have put money in these bonds because of decreased demand for loans, but due to the declining value of the securities many of them have been taken off the eligible list for purchase by these banks.

Ogden Mills, under-secretary of the Treasury, said today the President's project to improve the nation's credit through the half-billion-dollar banking pool was "going very well.

This corporation, the machinery for which was completed today in New York, will find almost six billion dollars of securities locked in the vaults of Federal Reserve member banks by present rediscount restrictions.

Leaders Picked for the Billion Dollar Pool

New York, Oct. 9 (US)—Articles of incorporation of the $500,000,000 credit pool advocated by President Hoover as a means of stabilizing economic conditions by relieving the strain on the country's banks, will be filed today at Dover, Delaware.

The pool, to be known as the National Credit Corporation, is to be authorized to issue debentures of not more than $1,000,000,000 principal amount debentures. Organization of the pool was completed here last night.

Banks throughout the country will be asked to subscribe to the debentures at par in a specific principal amount equal to two per cent of their respective net demand and time deposits. The fund is then should provide at least the fund requested by President Hoover.

Banks will be able, when necessary, to obtain accommodations on the basis of sound assets which are not legally eligible for rediscount at the Federal Reserve banks.

DOCTOR GONE IN BROCKTON

Brockton, Oct. 9—Dr. Raoul J. LeBeau, 33, of 592 Main st., specialist in children's diseases, was reported missing to police today, and the radio was used in an attempt to locate him.

According to the physician's wife, he left home at 8:45 a. m. yesterday to call on a patient and then visit his attorney's office, but arrived at neither place.

He is known to have gone to a garage and paid a small repair bill on his coupe, which he then drove away. At 10 a. m. he was seen driving the coupe in Brockton, but no word has been heard of him since.

The physician is five feet six inches tall, weighs 135 pounds, and wore a brown suit, tan shirt, tan tie and black shoes. His car carries physicians' green cross, front and rear.

No reason for the doctor's vanishing could be given by his wife or by his father, Philias LeBeau, a Pawtucket, R. I., druggist, who arrived in Brockton last night to aid in the search.

2 TAKEN AT GUN POINT IN CHASE

An auto stolen from a policeman caused the capture at gun point of two men, one of them armed, according to police, in busy Flood sq., South Boston, in the presence of a number of school children today.

Following a chase through the crowded square, Frank AuCoin, 32, of 605 Tremont st., and Roy Mansfield, 28, of 204 East Sixth st., New York City, were arrested, charged with larceny of the car of Patrolman Ernest R. Robertson of Station 12. AuCoin was also charged with carrying a gun.

Patrolmen Murtagh McAvey and Walter J. Lutz were holding up traffic in the square to permit the passage of children on their way to school, when they recognized their brother officer's machine. It was stolen last night from in front of his house at 547 E 4th st., South Boston.

They ordered the driver, who, they say, was Mansfield, to stop, but he put on speed and swung around the square. Commandeering another machine the officers pursued, and crowded their quarry against the curb before the other car could leave the square. With drawn guns the two policemen arrested AuCoin and Mansfield and took them to Station 12.

'KIKI' IN HIDING WITH DIAMOND, SAYS ALBANY

Marion Roberts' Mother, in Boston, Waits in Vain for a Telephone Call

While her mother waited vainly in her South End home today for the call that never came, Marion ("Kiki") Roberts, former Follies charmer and sweetheart of Jack ("Legs") Diamond, was reported in hiding with Diamond near Albany, N. Y.

The former red-headed show girl, who now has jet black tresses, was bailed in $2500 in Supreme Court at Albany last night on charges of assault and kidnaping with Diamond, the racketeer.

Her reappearance was a relief to her mother, Mrs. Grace Strasmick of Dartmouth st., who had feared pretty Marion dead, but although the mother remained away from her work today in expectation of a long-awaited telephone call from the elusive daughter—the call never came.

SLAYER IS NEAR DEATH CHAIR

Fairbairn and two deputies. He was lodged in the cell nearest the electric chair pending the Governor's action on his appeal for a pardon, which will be heard next Tuesday afternoon. He claimed the trial was unfair.

Aimee's One Big Worry Is Over "Curfew" Sermon

One sermon is worrying "Sister Aimee." That's the one she calls "Curfew Shall Not Ring Tonight."

She has given it only once before—that's why it worries her. But it sounds interesting. She says:

"That's the one in which I throw myself onto the tongue of the bell of doom."

It's on Thursday night.

WILL GIVE TABLEAUX

First will come "The Crimson Road," on Saturday, without illustrations, but on Sunday both "Back to the Book," in the afternoon, and "The Head of John the Baptist," in the evening, will be illustrated.

Tuesday night will be American Legion and My Country 'Tis of Thee Night, with a number of tableaux, of which the evangelist said:

"There's one of Columbus landing on his knees and then one showing him landing on the Aborigines."

Bridegroom Hutton laughed heartily at this pun of his honeymoon partner, who went on to tell of her Divine Healing Service, Wednesday afternoon.

"This is entitled, 'Healing in His Wings,'" she said. "I don't want any misapprehension regarding this. It isn't that I claim any merit of healing. It is simply healing by prayer.

TO SAVE SINNERS

"Sometimes the halt, the blind and the sick come on beds and stretchers to Angelus Temple and I walk among them and touch them and pray for Divine aid. Sometimes they arise and walk. They tell others. In Dayton, O., nine years ago, I continued this service for 22 hours and every ambulance and cab in the city was bringing them to me."

She said that she believed she had no power other than any mother has in praying earnestly for her sick children.

"Preaching the straight and simple, unvarnished gospel has proven itself through the centuries the greatest magnet of religion," she said. "That is what I plan to preach in Boston. People here are hungry for Jesus.

"As I look out of this hotel window, I see here as everywhere else only two kinds of people—sinners and saints. I am here to save the sinners."

'Show Me Teeth'

When Atty. Henrietta Duncan Duren of Hanover, with law offices in Boston, was arrested for speeding, she insisted that Motorcycle Officer Anderson give her a look at his teeth. He couldn't; he had a big brown chaw in his mouth and wouldn't.

COP IS BASHFUL ABOUT TEETH

Any way you look at it, a good-looking motorcycle policeman can't show his teeth to a lady while he is masticating a large section of eating tobacco—not even to a lady lawyer he had stopped for speeding.

Not Metropolitan Motorcycle Officer Harold Anderson, at any rate, he explained in Quincy Court today in telling why he declined to show his teeth to Mrs. Henrietta Duncan Duren of Hanover, a Boston lawyer, who wished to see if the teeth were those she remembered in the mouth of another officer with whom she had a traffic tiff some days previously.

Mrs. Duren, first feminine student at Northeastern University Law School and first woman graduate of that school to be admitted to the bar (in February, 1926), was stopped by Officer Anderson on the Wollaston blvd. Sept. 23, and charged with speeding at 42 miles an hour.

In court today, Mrs. Duren declared she believed Anderson to be an officer with whom she'd had a "run in" a few days before, and she asked him to show his teeth, as the other officer had perfect teeth. Anderson refused.

He was chewing tobacco at the time, he testified, and was shy about exhibiting possible stains.

Mrs. Duren, associated in things legal with Attorney Percy Guthrie, former commander of the Canadian Black Watch Regiment, was opposed by Lieut. Henry Hayes of the Blue Hills metropolitan station, a classmate who passed the bar with her.

Lieut. Hayes was agreeable to allowing her to plead nolo and having the case filed. Mrs. Duren insisted on a not-guilty plea and a trial.

When the hearing was ended, however, Judge Albert E. Avery advised her to change her plea to nolo, which she did, and the case was filed.

LABOR IS READY TO PRESS 2.75 BEER FIGHT

Battle Over Final Action May Follow on the Floor at Vancouver Session

Vancouver, B. C., Oct. 9 (AP)—Organized labor's demand for 2.75 per cent beer chrystallized today at the American Federation of Labor convention and committeemen indicated resolutions for outright repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment probably would be sidetracked.

Matthew Woll, chairman of a labor committee working for Congressional sentiment to change the Volstead Act, explained that 2.75 per cent beer would be of the same strength as the Canadian draft brew sold here, and not the "dishwater" some delegates had thought.

"By 2.75 per cent beer I mean about 3.10 per cent by volume," he said. "That like the ordinary Canadian beverage. I am not referring to bottled beer or the stronger ales."

President William Green, who also favors legalization of 2.75 per cent beer; W. J. McDonough, head of the Building Trades Union, and other leaders indicated most discussion of resolutions dealing with alcohol would be behind closed doors by the resolutions committee.

However, leaders of the "wet wing" girded for a possible battle on the convention floor shortly.

The committee is expected by both wet and dry leaders to report favorably on that section of the executive council's report favoring 2.75 per cent beer.

The committee also is expected to report non-concurrence on resolutions advocating repeal of the 18th amendment and repeal of the Volstead Act.

Danbury Fair Guards on Watch for Holdup

Danbury, Ct., Oct. 9 (INS)—A squad of heavily armed private detectives and local police was ordered to Danbury fair grounds today following a demand made yesterday by New York racketeers for a ten per cent cut of all gate receipts.

The guards were ordered to watch the gates closely, and act as a convoy when cash was carried to a local bank. Gate receipts alone yesterday were about $35,000.

darling, put on your wings, you know you are going to fly up here."

Mrs. Aimee will reply: "I'm from Los Angeles, and flying is old stuff to me. I flew up to get married, flew to Boston to save souls, and at a rate of speed that would make you people open your eyes."

It pays to make your city interesting. Conventions meeting in New York, from all parts of the country, in the past year spent eighty million dollars, a good deal of money even for New York.

In the same period New York and its local government spent SIX HUNDRED MILLION DOLLARS, also a good deal of money, even for New York.

New Yorkers are interested to learn how some of their local statesmen acquire the sums that they deposit in banks, from small salaries.

One who deposited $630,000 said he got his out of "a big black box," and would not be more explicit. Another borrowed hundreds of thousands from friends, but couldn't tell who they were. All showed extraordinary financial capacity.

You read in the paper, "More gold goes to Europe."

Why should this country LET IT GO? We didn't allow exportation of gold at one period during the war. We had it, wanted the world to know we had it, and we kept it.

The timid say, "If you refuse to export gold, the world will say that you have gone off the gold standard."

Let the world say what it likes. It will not lack respect for a nation that has five thousand millions in gold locked up, back of its dollar.

Old Britannia is flat on her back, because she allowed the ingenious Frenchmen to draw out her gold, hundreds of millions in a week.

Why not admit that our friends abroad are smarter than we are, brilliantly efficient in extracting gold from other nations, and at the same time say to them, "You are not going to get OURS, because we are going to keep it."

WHITE COLLAR WAGES CUT IN LAWRENCE

American Woolen Announces Office Pay Reduction; Strike Spreads

Lawrence, Oct. 9—Three more men were arrested in strike disorders today as new wage cuts and threats of more disrupted peace parleys were made.

The arrests came during a melee in front of Labor Hall after a group of Communist agitators were ejected by American Federation of Labor adherents.

The new wage cuts were announced by M. T. Stevens & Sons Co., which controls six mills in Andover, North Andover, Haverhill, Lowell and Pescedale, R. I.

NORTH ANDOVER STRIKE

More than 100 employes walked out of one of two mills at North Andover at noon without demonstration. Union leaders said workers in the other mills would follow tonight with the exception of the mill at Lowell, where a strike is already on.

The American Woolen Co., through Moses Pendleton, executive vice-president, threw consternation into the ranks of the movers for peace with an announcement today that the company would in no way compromise on the 10 per cent wage cut in negotiations before the State arbitration board, scheduled for Tuesday.

"Furthermore," Pendleton said, "the company has decided that wage cuts of higher percentage will become effective tomorrow among the office workers, the so-called white-collar group.

"Wage cuts must be made if the company is to do business here. If we can't do business here we will move to other cities," he added.

AGITATORS INVADE HALL

Pendleton's statement came as union leaders were called into conference by Robert J. Watt, president of the Lawrence Central Labor Union, to draft their arguments for Tuesday's meeting.

It was at that meeting that agitators made their way into the hall and started distributing handbills that demanded "recognition" for the Communist group.

One of the men arrested was Dedroes Dongian, arrested Wednesday with Edith Berkman. He was booked for passing handbills, as was Thomas Keisten and Albert DeCola, Jr.

Plans for a Communist demonstration were abandoned following a poorly attended meeting of that group, addressed by Miss Sophie Melvin, 21 who came here from Paterson, N. J.

STRIKE APPEAL IN LEGISLATURE

Striking longshoremen today brought their strike into the legislature with charges that strikebreakers were housed at Commonwealth Pier and that union men were discriminated against by the state.

In a bill filed by Rep. William P. Prendergast of Charlestown, union officials asked an explanation of Public Works Commissioner Frank W. Lyman, in charge of the pier.

Its filing followed a move by Chairman Edward Fisher of the State Conciliation and Arbitration Board for a conference toward settlement.

Fisher conferred with the standing committee of the longshoremen's council and promised to attempt to settle the affair by arbitration if the proposed conference failed.

Approximately 50 freight handlers in East Boston walked out in sympathy with the longshoremen.

Rumors of trouble at the Charlestown docks today with the arrival of several ships, caused Acting Police Supt. Thomas F. Goode to order 28 extra patrolmen and three sergeants from eight different divisions to aid police of the City square station.

Crews of strike-breakers, numbering 250 men in all, were unloading or loading the Kstrina Luckenbach, the Panaman and the Nebraskan at the Commonwealth pier today and other negro workmen were handling cargoes at the Army Base. Only a handful of strikers gathered outside the State pier.

The marriage, young Vidal said, took place in Brewster, N. Y., Danbury's Gretna Green, just across the state line.

The boy's father, Frank Vidal of Waquoit, left for Connecticut to bring them back. It was considered likely annulment proceedings will be started.

1 CHURCH, BUT TWO CREEDS

Members of two of Boston's oldest churches, the Central Congregational and First Presbyterian have voted to unite, it was announced today.

A feature of the union is that the members of each church will forsake neither its doctrine nor its affiliation with the national Presbyterian or Congregational church organizations.

The church building of the First Presbyterian at Berkeley st. and Columbus ave., South End, will be given up and the federated congregation will meet at the Central Congregational Church, Berkeley and Newbury sts.

A name for the combined churches has yet to be chosen. The new congregation will number about 1000. A consistory, composed of members, chosen without regard for their denominational affiliations, will have charge of the administration. For the present, both pastors, Rev. Peter A. Dunn of the Congregational and Rev. Philip H. Clifford, will preach.

Bridgewater Has a Bible Candidate in Race for Presidency

Bridgewater, Oct. 9—A new dawn came to Bridgewater today —not alone on the calendar—for Clyde G. Coburn of 257 Main st., former California hotel employe of Jack Dempsey, announced his candidacy for President of these United States.

Coburn also said he was a candidate for the Nobel peace prize.

The new candidate will open his campaign at 8 p. m. Monday, he said, with a speech on the Common. He will declare the foundation of his campaign to be the Bible and his platform to be "the teachings and examples of Jesus Christ, similar to those of Abraham Lincoln."

"If I am elected," he said thoughtfully, "I will give Herbert Hoover a good job as my assistant."

SHOTS FLY, BUT IT'S ONLY LOVE!

New York, Oct. 9 (AP)—Dante Aligheri Guglielmone wanted to show Mrs. Guglielmone how much he loved her, so he took a pistol and fired it bang-bang-bang through the window.

Mrs. Guglielmone screamed, then smiled happily. Such a demonstration of love pleased her very much.

One cannot, however, fire three pistol shots into the still evening air with impunity. A woman's piercing scream cannot cut the nocturnal silence without creating concern. Neighbors telephoned police that a gang war was going on.

Policemen pounded on the Guglielmone door. Mrs. Guglielmone admitted them.

"Where's the gang war?" demanded one officer. "What's all the shooting?"

"Shooting?" repeated Mrs. Guglielmone, "Why, yes, now I remember. Dante—he's my husband—wanted to show me he still loved me. Gang war? No. We are very happy. Thanks for calling."

It struck the police as strange, so they seized Dante for carrying a pistol.

RICH SHOE MAN STOLE BRIDE, IS CHARGE

Alan H. Boynton, Bond Salesman, Accuses G. A. Brown, Sued in 1928 by E. F. Hill

A war romance, born back of the lines on the Western Front, between a vivacious French canteen girl and a Lynn aviator, spun dizzily to earth today when Alan H. Boynton of Lynn filed a $100,000 alienation of affections suit in Salem superior court against George A. Brown, 63, retired shoe manufacturer of Swampscott.

It was Brown's second leading role in alleged love larceny on the same street in little more than three years, a $100,000 alienation suit brought against him in 1928 by Edward F. Hill of Ocean st., Lynn, being settled out of court two years later.

ATTACHMENTS FILED, TOO

Boynton, a Boston bond salesman living in Ocean st., charges that the retired shoe manufacturer, a member of the Algonquin Club of Boston, stole the love of Mrs. Antoinette Boynton, 35, the former Mlle. Antoinette Antonine of Paris, descendant of one of Frances oldest families.

With the suit were filed attachments on the savings account of Brown in the Naumkeag Trust Co., Salem, and the First National Bank of Boston.

Boynton, a lieutenant of aviation in the army during the war, met Mlle. Antonine at her canteen back of the lines while on leave during the war.

SEEKS HER IN VAIN

Knowing her only as "La Petite Antoinette," as she was called by the polius and officers crowding her canteen, Boynton, after his return home, wrote many friends in France in a vain attempt to learn her full name and her address.

function in a Back Bay home of In January, 1921, he attended a function in a Back Bay home and there was dumbfounded to see the vivacious French girl he had long sought. She had come to America to visit friends.

Boynton and the French girl were married the following April.

Indicted 'Queen'

Rebecca Silverman, Thornton st., Revere, alleged "Dope Queen," indicted by the federal grand jury today. She is charged with selling morphine.

CANNON DATA IS GIVEN TO JURY

Washington, Oct. 9 (AP)—The District of Columbia Supreme Court today ordered William Tyler Page, clerk of the House of Representatives, to produce before a grand jury that original campaign fund reports of bishop James Cannon, Jr.

Page said he would comply and present the documents he refused to deliver yesterday, saying that it was contrary to rules of the House.

"I have been forced to the conclusion that the statements requested by the grand jury should be produced," Justice James Proctor ruled.

"In my opinion," he said, "Mr. Page, in a natural desire to fulfill his duties, has misconstrued the meaning of the resolution adopted by the House in 1879 upon which his position rests."

He said the resolution excepted documents "the House itself may have made public."

"Having in mind that the corrupt practices act makes these statements a public record," he added, "it seems to me these reports come within the very terms and spirit of the exception made in the House rule."

MANY INDICTED BY GRAND JURY

Twenty-four true bills and several secret indictments were returned today by the federal grand jury to Judge James A. Lowell in United States court today.

Among those indicted was Rebecca Silverman of Thornton st., Revere, known to the police as "Queen of the Dope Ring." She was charged with selling morphine.

Michael Forman, alias Mike Silver, John T. Ward and William Gibson, all of Boston, were indicted on charges of selling narcotics.

Edward J. Sweeney of Somerville, a substitute mail carrier, was indicted on a charge of theft of a letter.

George O. McDonough of Everett was indicted on a charge of stealing a parcel from the posotffice.

Lucy McDermott, mother of several children, formerly a clerk at Back Bay postoffice annex for many years, was indicted on a charge of larceny of letters from the mail.

Harry Lewin, alias Harry Martel of New Bedford, was indicted on a charge of impeding the work of the U. S. Coast Guard Sept. 5, last, during the seizure of liquor.

"With the solid facts of wealth evident on all sides, the spirit of reason always results in faith in America.

EDISON SLIPS INTO COMA AS DEATH NEARS

West Orange, N. J., Oct. 9 (AP)—Thomas A. Edison slipped into a stupor today and death crept nearer to his bedside.

The world-famous inventor, hitherto an extremely light sleeper, was found to be in an unnaturally deep slumber this morning when a cool October day dawned.

At breakfast time he was aroused with difficulty. A stupor, forerunner of the coma from which a patient cannot be awakened, had gripped him.

LIFE FADING OUT.

He was persuaded to take a few spoonfuls of cereal, but not nearly enough to combat the uremic poisoning which is combining with three other ailments to sap his strength day by day. Last night he took nothing and all day yesterday he went almost without nourishment.

"Mr. Edison spent a more quiet night, sleeping soundly," said a bulletin issued today by Dr. Hubert S. Howe, his physician.

"This morning he roused sufficiently to take a few spoonfuls of nourishment. He is, however, gradually losing ground."

Later Dr. Howe told reporters about the stupor.

"I don't think his death is imminent although I would not be surprised if I received an emergency call at any time," the physician said.

Arrangements were made to have policemen on motorcycles escort him swiftly to the bedside when such a call comes.

HOPE NEARLY GONE

The cool breeze today which succeeded unseasonable warmth yesterday will make the inventor more comfortable, but will have no effect on the maladies that are beating down his strong physique, the doctor said.

After the doctor's bulletin had been issued, Mrs. Edison, and of countenance, strolled with him through the estate while colored leaves fell about them. With head bowed, she directed a gardener to pick a bouquet from her flower garden for the physician.

President Hoover and Pope Pius XI were informed of the latest developments in the inventor's illness.

HOOVER AND HIS CABINET TAKE UP 'CHINA WAR'

Washington, Oct. 9 (AP)—President Hoover sought the counsel of his Cabinet today on the situation in Manchuria.

Soon after the Cabinet meeting at the White House, it became evident the complexities of the trouble disturbing the Far East had been gone overin some detail.

The President made no statement, however.

Japan Sends Warships and Warning to China

Shanghai, Oct. 9 (AP)—While Chinese indignation surged high today over the bombing of Chinchow, Manchuria, by Japanese airplanes, Mamoru Shigemitsu, Japanese minister to Canada, left here on a destroyer for Nanking with a note warning the Chinese government to "take prompt and effective measures" to halt the wave of hostility or take the consequences.

Japan asserts the bombing of Chinchow was in retaliation for an attack on the planes by Chinese troops.

Simultaneously Japan moved strong naval reinforcements toward Shanghai. The cruisers Tokiwa and Tenryu left Sasebo and Kure, Japan, this morning and are due here tomorrow.

Counting these two men-of-war, Japan had 20 fighting ships arrayed against possible violence from Chungking to the sea, 1000 miles along the thickly populated shores of the Yangtse river.

"Urgent" Meeting of League Council Called

Geneva, Switzerland, Oct. 9 (AP)—An urgent meeting of the League of Nations council next Tuesday was decided upon today at the request of China in connection with the situation in Manchuria.

Meanwhile, Alejandro Lerroux, president of the council, addressed a fresh appeal to China and Japan to take no action that might tend to aggravate the situation.

Faithful, But--

Mrs. Esther Faithful, who was granted a divorce today on grounds of cruelty.

3 BEATEN WIVES AIR WOES AND WIN DECREES

A divorce decree nisi from the husband she hasn't seen since she had him jailed in 1929 for knocking her out with a curtain rod was granted to Mrs. Ruth Lear of Everett ave., Chelsea, today, by Judge Joseph R. McCoole in Suffolk Probate Court. She was given custody of her daughter, Catherine, 10.

Mrs. Lear testified they married in 1920 and that her troubles began in 1927 when "Walter came home one night, after he had been drinking, and broke my arm by twisting it because he said I had drank some liquor he had in the house."

"On Dec. 16, 1929, after our separation," she continued, "he came home and knocked me unconscious with a curtain iron. I had him arrested and sent away. I haven't seen him since."

Mrs. Lillian Hilliard of 120 4th st., Chelsea, was also granted a decree nisi by Judge McCoole from Hannibal H. Hilliard.

She cited, in support of her charges of cruel and abusive treatment, several occasions when her husband had assaulted her, once blacking her eye so she lost 16 pounds while undergoing medical treatment for the injury, and once throwing a razor at her.

"In June, 1930, he beat me again," she testified, "but that was the last time. I made him leave after that."

A decree nisi for cruel and abusive treatment also was granted by Judge McCoole to Mrs. Mary Kiernan of Dorchester, who charged that Gerald T. Kiernan had beaten her repeatedly in the last year.

The assaults began last November, Mrs. Kiernan testified, when her husband arrived home at 3 a. m. and threw a brief case at her in answer to her question as to where he had been. On a similar occasion he hit her on the jaw, she said.

The suit was uncontested.

Among more than a score of divorce cases heard by Judge McCoole was that of Mrs. Esther Faithful, of Winthrop st., Winthrop, granted a decree nisi on her suit against George W. Faithful for cruel and abusive treatment.

William L. Shiberg of Wellington Hill st., Mattapan, who charged that his wife, Martha, left him three months after their marriage in 1927, was given a decree nisi by Judge McCoole on the grounds of desertion.

Another to receive a decree nisi was Mrs. Freda Lugge of South Huntington ave., Roxbury, who charged that in addition to beating her frequently, her husband, Frederick, once threw a beer bottle at her and hit her in the back. They were married in Germany in 1921 and separated last year, she testified.

CAPONE LETTER CONFESSES HE DODGED TAX

Chicago, Oct. 9—Al Capone sustained another crushing blow in court today at his trial for income tax violation when Federal Judge James H. Wilkinson ruled that "government exhibit number two," known as the "Mattingly letter," could be read to the jury.

Immediately after the court made this ruling, Atty. Samuel G. Clawson read the communication to the jury. The letter, which amounts virtually to Capone's confession of guilt, is said to be the crux of the government's case on which it hopes to send the notorious gangster to prison—possibly for 32 years.

In the letter Capone admitted he had failed to file income tax returns and was indebted to the government on an income of $266,006. The letter, written by Lawrence P. Mattingly, an income tax expert of Washington, on September 20, 1930, to C. W. Herrick, chief internal revenue agent in Chicago, gave an estimate of Capone's wealth and stated Capone was desirous of settling his debt with the government on the basis of this estimate. Mattingly had been given power of attorney by Capone.

BUSINESS NEAR 'REBOUND' SAYS SEIBERLING

"There is nothing of any consequence to prevent restoration of business," said F. A. Seiberling, head of the Seiberling Rubber Company of Akron, O., in Boston today.

"Business is just in the leash, waiting to go," he said.

"There has been a maladjustment all over the world. We are getting to the point of equilibrium.

"When fear is taken out of the minds of depositors and bankers, business will rebound just like a rubber ball that is held down by a weight.

"That fear on the part of depositors has caused them to withdraw money from banks and from safe deposit vaults, and because of that bankers have been obliged to draw in on loans."

Speaking of the rubber industry, he said:

"I had its low point in 1930. As a whole it operated that year without making a dollar of profit. It is doing better in 1931."

Asked about prohibition, he said:

"I think operation of the enforcement law may be fairly considered as a failure. It seems to be the practical thing to do is to repeal the Volstead act and formulate some new law that will give us practicable control of the liquor situation. I like the Canadian system."

Mr. Seiberling came today from Syracuse with his son, Penfield, and H. B. Stout, his merchandising manager to meet their agents here. Boston is the fifth place they have visited on a 20,000-mile tour which will end at Honolulu.

'Model Husband' Dies in Electric Chair

Joliet, Oct. 9 (INS)—John Preston, the "model husband," died in the electric chair at Joliet prison at dawn today for murder of Agnes Johnston, Chicago stenographer.

To the last his thoughts were of his wife, Lillian, who stood by him until the end. When doctors slit open his death tunic they disclosed a tattoo:

"Lillian forever."

BRITISH WOMEN TO DOMINATE ELECTION

London, Oct. 9 (AP)—Great Britain's women, as candidates, campaign workers and voters, will play a decisive roll in the coming general election to determine the life of the national government.

The Labor party is expected to have 20 to 25 women candidates for the House of Commons, and the Conservatives and Liberals about a dozen each. The number to represent independent groups has not been decided. In the 1929 election 69 women candidates were put forward by all parties and 14 were elected.

The most prominent of this year's candidates are Lady Astor, who is standing for re-election as a Conservative; Margaret Bondfield, Laborite and former minister of labor; the Duchess of Atholl, who held a cabinet post in the last Conservative government, and Megan Lloyd-George, daughter of the Liberal leader, who is campaigning on her record as a staunch supporter of her father.

FIGHT FOR MacDONALD

Political organizations are besieged by women and girls eager to aid in boosting candidacies of their favorite nominees. Most of them will be used in the routine work, distributing campaign material, while the more talented ones will stump the country.

Among the tireless campaign workers is Ishbel MacDonald, daughter of the prime minister. She is carrying the fight for his re-election into the enemy's camp in Seaham Harbor, which once sent him to Parliament, but now has rejected him. She also will work for her brother, Malcolm, in Rosetlaw.

WILL OUTNUMBER MEN

Miss MacDonald will have a worthy competitor in Miss Lloyd George, who will defend her ailing father against a woman Labor candidate and a male Conservative in Carnyarvon, as well as attending to her own candidacy in Anglesey.

Under a new register dating from October 15, more women will exercise the franchise than in any previous election. Of approximately 30,000,000 eligible voters women are expected to outnumber men by about 2,000,000, and it is believed this preponderance may turn the balance in favor of the national government.

The female vote was credited largely with turning Stanley Baldwin's Conservative government out of power in 1929 and elevating Ramsay MacDonald's Labor ministry.

DISARM, THEN CANCEL DEBTS, SAYS BORAH

By ROBERT S. ALLEN

Copyright, 1931, by International News Service.

Washington, Oct. 9—An offer to give serious consideration to the cancellation of American war debts if European powers will reduce German reparations and disarm was made today by Senator William E. Borah (R.), Idaho, chairman of the powerful Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

"If Europe is willing to reduce reparations and disarm," Borah declared, "we could afford to consider cancellation."

This announcement was viewed as Senator Borah's answer to the President's plan for a two-year extension of the moratorium on interallied debts which he opposed. Borah told Mr. Hoover he opposed further concessions to the allied powers on debts until they took concrete action in cutting reparations and armaments.

SEA WAR PERIL

Until the allied powers disarm and revise reparations, Borah holds, there can be no hope in Europe for peace or economic stability. Under present conditions of mounting armaments and crushing reparation claims, he declares, only war and chaos can result.

"There is not enough money in the United States Treasury, Borah asserts, to save Europe under present circumstances.

MUST CUT ARMS

It is Senator Borah's position that it is not American war debts that are destroying Europe. These obligations, he holds, amount only to 11 billion dollars spread among half a dozen nations.

It is the increasingly crushing and sinister burden of armaments and reparations, he asserts, that is pushing Europe to the abyss.

The American people will never consent to modification of the war debt agreements until Europe takes steps to slash reparations and reduce armaments, in Borah's opinion. Europe must act, and until it does the people of this country will demand their due, he holds.

U. S. Lets $1,931,954 Airplant Contract

Washington, Oct. 9 (AP)—Contracts totalling $1,931,951 for new aircraft and engines were awarded today by the War Department.

One of the contracts for $412,554 went to the Pratt & Whitney Aircraft Co. of Hartford, Ct., for 109 engines and spare parts.

Threat of Civil War Spreads in Germany

Berlin, Oct. 9 (INS)—Threats of civil war with a Communist bombing in Essen and fiery speeches by political jingoists echoed throughout Germany today.

A bomb damaged the home of Franz Bracht, burgomaster of Essen, who recently declined to enter the cabinet of Chancellor Heinrich Bruening as minister of the interior.

STORE TO SELL GAME TICKETS

Thomas F. Lockney, vice-president of the Jordan Marsh Co., called on Mayor Curley at City Hall today and informed him that his concern has arranged to place a booth in their store for the sale of tickets for the Holy Cross-Boston College football game at Harvard Stadium on Thanksgiving Day for the benefit of the unemployed.

A regular employe of the store will be placed in charge of the booth without expense to the city, and 5000 tickets will be available for purchasers there.

Mayor Curley praised the company for its interest in the needy and stated that if the policy adopted by them is taken up by others, all tickets for the game will be sold early.

FIRE ROUTS 200; 30 OVERCOME

New York, Oct. 9 (AP)—Thirty firemen were overcome by sulphurous smoke and 200 families were driven from their homes when a fire broke out this morning in the plant of the Empire Book Mach Co., adjoining a thickly populated Brooklyn tenement district.

Thirty-one men and women working in the plant escaped as the flames enveloped the two-story plant.

The sulphurous fumes caused tenement dwellers in the block to flee in terror, coughing and blinking their watering eyes.

The fumes even penetrated two public schools several blocks away and classes were disbanded.

BROWN ATTACKS ENEMIES OF LIVING WAGE

If any industry does not pay its workers a living wage, the State is better off without it, Larue Brown, Boston attorney and first chairman of the Minimum Wage Commission, today told members of the special legislative commission studying the working of the minimum wage law in Massachusetts.

The commission, under the chairmanship of Senator Donald W. Nicholson, of Wareham, resumed at the State House the hearings begun last Friday.

"You don't get something for nothing," Brown declared. "If an industry employs a considerable number of persons at, say, $4.50 a week and if they have to spend $7 or $8 a week to live, the difference must be paid by someone.

"An industry of this kind is being subsidized by the state, because the difference must be paid out of public welfare funds or out of private charitable sources."

Outlining the origin and history of the minimum wage law, Mr. Brown said:

"This law started in Australia and was not brought about by employes nor instituted as a solution of a social problem, but was begun by the responsible employers whose idea was to set up a living wage according to their standards of decency."

He added that it was introduced into Massachusetts "because some unscrupulous employers here were dragging down the responsible employers with low wage tactics."

Blankets of Indian Name Under Fire

Washington, Oct. 9 (AP)—Preliminary testimony was taken today at a Federal Trade Commission examiner's hearing on a charge of unfair methods of competition against the Beacon Manufacturing Co. of New Bedford, Mass.

The company's use of Indian names on its blankets, it was charged, led the public to believe the blankets were made by Indians. Anne Butler Abbott, director of the Abbott school of fine and commercial art, this city, admitted in testimony she was not familiar with blankets made by Indians.

BUREAU WILL DOUBLE LEGAL AID TO NEEDY

Spurred on by a talk of Dean Roscoe Pound of Harvard Law School to them last night, members of Harvard Legal Aid Bureau redoubled their efforts today to assist the needy in securing justice in the courts.

During his talk to the members of the bureau in Phillips Brooks House, Dean Pound said:

"The cost and delay to the needy in civil litigation is a reproach to the administration of justice."

UNFAIR TO NEEDY

He then scored the breakdown of the legal system which he said prevents a needy man from taking advantage of legal remedies which should be at his disposal, and pointed out that it is only through legal aid societies that the poor man may obtain a portion of the rights given to him by law.

Dean Pound urged members of the bureau to do all in their power to aid persons in the community in need of legal assistance but financially unable to hire lawyers.

President Henry R. Ely of Harvard Legal Aid Bureau announced today that the 20 ranking students of Harvard Law School who form the bureau will be glad to take the cases of men and women in need of legal assistance, without any charge.

WILL GIVE HELP

If necessary the bureau will carry cases to the State Supreme Court without charge. While intricate questions arise members of Harvard Law School faculty help the students.

President Ely says that any person who considers he has a just law suit may consult members of the bureau at its office in the Inman Trust Company building, Central sq., daily between 10 a. m. and 1 p. m. and 2 to 5 p. m.

SUBTLE FLATTERY FROM RUSSIA FOR U. S. A.

By GILBERT SELDES

MR. WALTER DURANTY, A CLOSE, KEEN AND SYMPATHETIC observer of the Russian Soviets, has recently given to western Europe and the United States the most cheering statement in months. While upholders of our capitalist system are beating their breasts, going into penitence (or the penitentiary in rare cases) for previous offenses and trying to shore up the structure of society with semi-socialistic plans, the heads of the one great socialistic experiment announce that they do not think capitalism is on the brink of destruction, or the edge of the abyss, or in the last convulsion, or plucking at the coverlet. In brief, they think that there's life in the old dog yet.

GILBERT SELDES

Clairvoyants

The importance of this lies in two circumstances: The Soviets would nearly like to believe that capitalism has gone, as they said in the war, phut; and the Soviet leaders are extraordinarily clear-sighted men who do not let themselves believe what they want to believe. Mr. Duranty names Lenin and Stalin as two men with the exceptional faculty, among human beings, of recognizing facts, even if they dislike the facts. This is, to be sure, the sign of the adult man and one is not grown up until one has grown to this stature; but children and those who remain infantile through their lives, as well as victims of mental disorder, have the faculty of looking straight at a fact and then denying its existence. It is pleasant—until the shock of reality comes.

Soviet Religion

We have been told ten thousand times that the Soviets feed their people on promises and lies. I do not know if that is true or not, since a considerable number of respectable people who have worked in Russia are witnesses to the contrary. When they despoiled the Russian church, the Soviets put up the sign which has probably hurt them more in the West than any of their cruelties: "Religion is opium for the people." And it has seemed to many observers that they promptly erected another religion (the religion of communism) in its place.

They have, without question, created a faith which the dominant Russians hold, and it is remarkable because it is a faith which goes through every moment of their lives. The great religions of the past have reserved to saints, monks and zealots, the privilege of being always in the presence of their gods. In Russia it amounts almost to a misdemeanor to forget communism when you are brushing your teeth.

I suspect it of being an uncomfortable faith for those who do not dedicate themselves easily. Having to remember the class struggle whenever you write a play, or model a head, or write a tune, or observe a microbe, must be a nuisance; and no party is quite good enough to be kept in mind when you are cooking a steak or making love. The triumph of the Soviets is that they have, apparently, made themselves seem good enough to a large portion of the citizens. It may be the great lie of communism that the class struggle is behind all human activities, or that economic motives are more powerful than Oedipus complexes; but it is not an opiate.

Acceptable Misery

So far the reports of angry Americans that Russia is suffering ("worse off than under the Tsars," is the favorite phrase of those who never were there under the Tsars) have not been impressive. It is not only natural, it is probably desirable, in the eyes of the leaders, that Russia should suffer, since it is bringing a new world into being. I am not impressed by edicts against the use of soap, and although I do not like terrorism and police espionage, they seem to me natural weapons in a country which has used them for centuries and understands their power. The center of attack on Sovietism should be the ultimate ideals of Sovietism, not its temporary expedients.

It does not strike me as a lie to tell people that for five years things will not be particularly cheerful and that after the five years are over, another five years, only slightly better, will follow. Perhaps if we had been told in February of 1930 that we had come to the lean years and that sixty months would pass before we should be prosperous again, we should not be so reluctant, so chaotic in mind, and so desperate; but we were told that sixty days would see us rounding the corner. If things are as bad in Russia as the enemies of Russia report, they are worse than they are here; yet the Russians take their prospects calmly, and even hold out to us the hope that we will pull through.

Thirty Years Ago

Quite apart from "justifying" William Jennings Bryan and giving us all to think of how time brings many revenges, the talk of silver at sixteen to one is cheering because it takes so many people back to their childhood. I do not know why children, in the late 1890's, were such violent Bryanites; from recent conversations I should judge that there wasn't a Republican among them, and it follows, since the Republican party has plenty of voters, that the process of growing up made Republicans out of a lot of good Democrats.

Village postoffices (fourth class, officially) in those days were the direct gift of the Government and ours had been in my family, by Republican dispensation, for many years. Yet we were all Bryanites, memorizing his speeches, and fighting with tough Republican boys from the next town. We were discouraged when he failed, and somehow his own failure to be discouraged, taken with the assassination of McKinley, turned us from our loyalty. After thirty years, it is the capacity for enthusiasm which has dwindled—and free silver becomes not a clarion call, but a business deal.

Riley's Lake House at Saratoga Burned

Saratoga Springs, N. Y., Oct. 9 (AP)—Riley's Lake House, rendezvous of Saratoga's racing crowd elite for four decades, burned to the ground today.

The hostelry had been closed since the last day of the Saratoga racing meet, early last month. It was built in 1886 by Jim Riley, one-time champion oarsman, and of late had been operated by a company.

$100,000 Orders for General Fire Roofing

Youngstown, O., Oct. 9 (AP)—Orders amounting to upward of $100,000 were received by General Fire Roofing Co. during the first days of October, George E. Brainard, president of the company, said today.

Business so far this month is almost as great as in the whole month of August, he said. The plant is now operating at about 50 per cent of capacity.

COLLINGS CLUE FOLLOWED IN PROVIDENCE

Providence, R. I., Oct. 9.—Police today began a delayed investigation of the story of Maurice H. Foran, 50, no home, that a young man he believed to be one of the murderers of Benjamin Collings in Long Island Sound, spent the night of September 28 at the local Salvation Army hotel.

Foran said he told his story the morning of Sept. 29 to Lieuts. Thomas F. Ratigan and Claude B. Tidd, and the later to Chief Inspector John J. McGuire. He afterward sent a written report to Dist. Atty. Blue of Suffolk County, Long Island, he said.

Foran said the young man's description answered that of the younger pair of murderers described by Mrs. Collings, and that he talked in his sleep of a yacht and violence.

"I slept in the Salvation Army hotel the night of Monday, Sept. 28," Foran said. "In the bed next to mine was a young man whose obvious nervousness drew my attention almost as soon as I saw him. In the middle of the night I was awakened by the young man moaning and thrashing about. He talked, almost shouted in his sleep.

"From what he said I knew he was dreaming of a yacht and that he was talking to his father. I thought of the Collings case at once. He spoke of violence and was trying to get away from something that menaced him."

Huntington, N. Y., Oct. 9 (INS)—A canvas shoe of the same kind as that given Mrs. Lillian Collings by one of two men she said murdered her husband was studied by investigators today.

It was found on the beach at Cove Neck by Sergt. Robert Forrest of the Cove Neck police. He said he had seen an elderly man and a youth fitting the description given by Mrs. Collings of the slayers on the beach the day after the killing.

BUS DRIVERS' PAY DEFENDED

Hartford, Ct., Oct. 9 (INS)—Marcus Dow, director of safety for the Eastern Greyhound Lines, Inc., and former president of the National Safety Council, testified at the hearing on alleged over-working of bus drivers here today that the company spends $125,000 a year in bonus and prize money for drivers with good safety records.

Dow was one of the company's officers to take the witness stand in an effort to refute testimony given yesterday by John Hill of Jackson Heights, N. Y., that he drove a Greyhound bus 966 miles between Boston, New York and Springfield over a period of three days with only five hours' sleep.

The bus eventually plunged from the highway and down an embankment at Berlin on the night of Sept. 7 with 33 passengers aboard.

Dispatchers and other company employes testified yesterday afternoon that Hill, who had asserted he was ordered to keep going despite his requests for sleep, spurned offers for rest and said he was quite able to continue.

THE LOVERING-ALMY WEDDING WAS A VERY GAY affair yesterday, which is the way a wedding should be. In fact, we would go so far as to say we would like to have the bridesmaids and ushers join hands and do a ring-around a rosy with the bridal couple in the center, but of course we will never see that.

It was a surprise when Mrs. Lovering, the bride's mother, stepped out from behind a large bouquet of chrysanthemums and gave the bride away. And it may have been the dim candle-light, but mother looked very sad indeed at the thought of parting with her sweet daughter. However, they were the only solemn ones, the rest of the bridal party seemed to be having the time of their lives and what a huge wedding party it was—twelve bridesmaids and over twenty ushers packed into Leslie Lindsey Memorial.

MRS. RUSSELL BURRAGE

What fun Ruth will have when she joins the Almy-Adie families? They are all so jolly and such good sports and seem to be getting the most out of life.

Mrs. Jack Adie in Chartreuse Green

OUTSTANDING AMONG THE THRONG WAS THE BRIDEgroom's sister, Mrs. Jack Adie, who was Mary Almy. Her costume was of chartreuse green accentuated by vivid lipstick which, with a deep tan, made her appear very New Yorky indeed. Kitty Clark was with her mother, Mrs. Russell Burrage, both in black and white ensembles. The bridesmaids and ushers all streamed over to the Ritz-Carlton after the ceremony and Newbury st. looked like a garden party. The girls were in coral velvet with chrysanthemum bouquets and the maids of honor, Helen Warren and Mary Lovering, were frocked in a deeper shade on the same hue.

THERE WILL BE A DOG Show club meeting at the Prescott Walcotts in Milton on Saturday.

ON NOVEMBER 1, THE Groton Hunt Club moves into their new quarters which is the house loaned or given by the Richard Ely Danielsons for their use. For years they have invaded the Jarvis Lawrence's place—also donated by the Lawrences—and so we haven't been out there we cannot give you the details as to arrangement or design, but they are giving a housewarming soon, and if we are invited, for your sakes, will go. Where is Groton from Newton Center? The members of this zippy little club are hunting three times a week now under the leadership of Mr. George Timmins—and is HE good-looking—and Mr. Danielson, joint masters of the hounds.

SO THEY ARE GOING TO have the Junior Supper dances after all. We hear the Mrs. J. Gardner Bradlee of Boston and Wellesley succeeds Mrs. Hugh Scott as chairman of the committee. As usual these affairs will be held at the Copley-Plaza and the first takes place on Friday evening, January 29 if you have a good memory, the second on February 26 and the final one a costume party on March 18. We hope they will not be as sniffy as last season and will allow cameras to click for the benefit of posterity. Gaia ball in Boston in the Thrifty Thirties—Mrs. J. Gardner Bradley in a pink dimity, carrying a bunch of artificial flowers, Mrs. Hugh Scott in velveteen with touches of swansdown, Mrs. Robert B. Almy in a charming creation she bought at Uncle Eph's where Reb bet the hat. Miss Isabella Grandin in an optimistic effect which she wore the year she came out and hoped nobody would recognize. The difficulty of doing full justice to them is limited in this column.

MRS. WILBUR GRANT AND brother, Mayo, are going to give another of their jolly and novel little parties at Dunbuntin, this time for Arria (Babbette) Morison over the holiday week-end. It will all be delightfully informal with hare and hound races, picnic supper, old fashioned dances, etc. Jane Bancroft, Linda Colleny, Polly R Richardson, Jane Wheeler, and swains will do their best to survive three days of much merriment.

Open House at Sanatorium on Oct. 14

Mrs. Charles Allen Porter of 116 Beacon st., Mrs. Henry P. King, and Miss Pauline Fenno, comprise the committee for the open house which will be held at the Sharon Tubercular Sanatorium, on Wednesday afternoon, Oct. 14 at 4 o'clock.

The invitations have been extended to friends and those interested in the work of the sanatorium, for an opportunity to inspect the buildings and grounds. Tea will be served.

The sanatorium is situated on the highest elevation in the town, and was the pioneer effort in New England to illuminate that tuberculosis, in its initial stages, could be cured under the healthful conditions of pure air, nourishing food, and skilled medical attention.

It was started under the guidance of Dr. Vincent Y. Bowditch, and its financial support comes from widely separated parts of New England.

Separate from the main building is one called the childrens' pavilion, erected for the purpose of treating delicate or under-nourished children, threatened through inheritance or poor living conditions, with the disease. There an open air school is carried on, with competent teachers in charge.

Woman Urges Sex Be Forced Off Screen

Rome, N. Y., Oct. 9.—Mrs. Ambrose N. Diehl of New York, chairman of the committee on motion pictures of the National Council of Women, told the International Council of Women here that censorship is not solving the sociological problems of the motion picture in the United States.

She urged a campaign by women to exert direct pressure on motion picture production throughout the world, "that the screen be forced to portray woman in other roles than that of sex protagonist."

We have an odd idea about COAL!

Since Burns Bros. was first organized, we have had the comparatively odd idea that every customer should have the highest quality coal and the most efficient service possible to provide.

Following that idea we exert every effort to supply you with the highest quality coal . . . cleaned and recleaned repeatedly from mine to your cellar . . . carefully checked for size and weight . . . delivered by men coached to be careful of your property . . . and backed by the service of technically trained heating engineers.

But first of all . . . good coal, selected from Pennsylvania's most famous mines, with such care that Burns Bros. are considered "the most fussy buyers in the business."

It pays to be fussy, for your sake. Let us prove it to you!

RADIO'S PRODIGAL SON RETURNS HOME

Lew Conrad in Gala Opening Tonight

By N. F. T.

Local hotel officials are killing the proverbial fatted calf. Lew Conrad returns to Boston today, after going through considerable high water and much hallelujah in quest of radio fame.

Lew is a Boston boy who made good somewhere else. As a result he has been prevailed upon to come back home and wield a baton while his Musketeers play dance rhythm for those who seek entertainment at the Statler Salle Moderne. Much interest is centered about his formal opening tonight, following an NBC network broadcast through WEEI at noon today.

CONTINUES CHAIN PROGRAMS

His crooning voice has won him a place among the popular personalities at National Broadcasting Co. headquarters in New York. His national hookup periods continue twice a week, transmitted over the United States from WEEI in Boston.

While on the subject of crooners Bing Crosby sounds at least a thousand per cent better since Monday night. Freddy Rich's orchestra is now behind him. He has new theme song, and CBS seems to have struck the right combination at last. Now to hear and enjoy the artist that Bing Crosby really is. Such concessions here will please an ardent flame-haired hooby admirer in West Lynn. How 'bout it, Audrey Burns?

* * *

Unfortunately, Boston ear cuppers didn't catch Bing last night (WAAB) at 7 o'clock. A political talk occupied the time.

* * *

Getting away from crooners is nigh onto impossible today. We just learned that Rues (NBC) Colombos' full and complete name is "Rugglero Rudolf Eugenio Colombo." There's intrigue in that Eugenio—eh?

Now will someone please forward the left to right tag of one Nick Lucas? Write—don't telegraph!

HOORAY, IT'S A BOY!

Sure enough, in keeping with the "eighths" hope and prediction printed on Tuesday, a bouncing baby boy has come to make Mr. and Mrs. Ranny Weeks happier than they are, if that's possible. Said little chap weighs 6 pounds 8 ounces, and was left by the stork on Wednesday night at 10 p. m. Congratulations.

* * *

Olympic Games managers, want $100,000 for broadcasting rights. Consequently those athletic competitions will not be aired.

ON AGAIN, OFF AGAIN!

Whispering Jack Smith was banished to exile (WAAB) and air of a sudden no reason given, his crooning voice is snatched off the air.

Colonel Wilson Chanel Stoopnagle had a birthday last Saturday. So did Vincent (CBS) Sorey. They celebrated together, but would hardly want everybody to know just how and where.

RADIO IN A RESTAURANT

Scores of business men and their stenographers know how a certain Devonshire st. eating house proprietor aims to please. These last few days said luncheon host has been airing the World Series descriptions as a service to guests. His suave greeter, Justin (Judd) Gray by name, has been having his well manicured hands full trying to keep everybody happy on that score. Many of those breaking bread want the speaker turned off. Others want made louder. Don't be surprised the radio is silenced for good. Even so, few can say the genial boss Warmuth didn't try earnestly to do what he thought would be appreciated. 'Twas ever thus.

* * *

Protests still coming in from all over New England because Kate Smith isn't heard hereabouts any more.

Personalities on the Air

"Amos 'n' Andy" by Amos 'n' Andy (honest) will appear in print Oct. 19. The book is in dialect play script, with the lion's share partaking of about 85 per cent of the dialogue. There is a foreword by Irvin S. Cobb.

WBZ's new project of short waving personal messages of locals to friends and relatives locked up in the Arctic regions has its humorous side—it takes six months to get an answer. And what's more the messages go not only to the cold section but to places all over the world. Picture mamma sending a message to Johnny in the North Pole telling him to wear his woolen underwear, and having another Johnny, roasting at the equator, getting the message.

What men in various walks of life should demand of women is told by Betty Crocker on WEEI each Wed. and Fri. Betty must have been 'round . . . Every twist of the dial next week will bring in political talks, the result of oncoming suburban elections . . . If you can't understand Husing's description of the Notre Dame-Northwestern game tomorrow, a television set might help. CBS will display the game on its television station . . . Ted's pal, McNamee, may be spared the anguish of announcing that game for NBC if another World Series game is played. NBC thinks more of Mac as a baseball announcer than a football broadcaster. Still, Graham has a lot of "color."

Today is a most unusual radio day. Ruth Etting didn't sing, Pres. Hoover didn't speak and WNAC didn't discover a find.

WILLIE MORRIS (it's a "she") has been named WEEI hostess. Willie is competing for first honors on the National Radio Audition contest, finals broadcast on WBZ Sun . . . KATE SMITH once studied to be a trained nurse . . . JOE MOSS, Waldorf maestro, will be NBC-ed twice weekly starting Tues. eve . . . TED HUSING recalls the time he taught dancing . . . PHIL SPITALNY'S crooner, BEN CUTLER, is a former Yale halfback . . . The "cough drop" boys, TRADE and MARK, start an NBC series tonight, but they are passed up locally . . . DAVID ROSS once was secretary to a Russian baroness.

NEW CABINET FOR GERMANY

Berlin, Oct. 9 (AP)—Chancellor Heinrich Bruening succeeded in forming a new cabinet today.

Six of its members, including Dr. Bruening, who remains as chancellor, are carried over from the old cabinet. The chancellor has reserved for himself the post of foreign ministere, vacated by Dr. Julius Curtius.

The new cabinet includes:

Dr. Bruening chancellor and foreign minister; Gen. Wilhelm Groener, defence and interior; Hermann Dietrich, finance; Martin Schiele, food and agriculture; Georg Schaetzel posts and electrographs; Gottfried Theviranus, minister without portfolio.

Turnstile Used as Roulette Wheel; What's Next!

Evanston, Ill. Oct. 9 (AP)—The police seized seven car drivers at an elevated station. They were using the station's turnstile for a roulette wheel, betting on what number it would stop after a group of passengers would pass through. Numbers had been chalked below the bars of the device.

The drivers pleaded they had not actually operated a gambling device, since the motive power had been furnished by persons who had no connection with the game.

The police admitted there was nothing they could do about it.

TROOPS CALLED IN IRELAND

Dublin, Oct. 9 (US)—The Free State government today ordered the country-wide mobilization of Dublin of armed police brigades of former army men to deal with the terroristic threats of Republican irregulars.

Armed guards were provided members of the Irish Free State Parliament yesterday as a result of threats demanding the legislators vote against the bill increasing police powers.

The domestic help problem is solved by taking a kitchenette apartment and the best are advertised daily in the For Rent columns.

RUGBY STARS IN MOSLEY TICKET

London, Oct. 9 (AP)—Sir Oswald Mosley, who announced recently that "Kid" Lewis, former middleweight champion of England, would be a New Party candidate in the general election for the House of Commons, has gathered other noted athletes on his ticket.

R. O. Harding, who was captain of Cambridge University rugby team and who heretofore has been a Liberal in politics, will run in Swansea, and Peter Howard, former captain of the English rugby team, is to stand in Yardley. Sir Oswald himself is an amateur boxer of note.

$2 for Their Wedding Intentions Too Much for This Couple

New York, Oct. 9 (AP)—Joe Gordon and Beatrice Pickens went to City Hall yesterday, filled out marriage intentions and started to leave.

"That," said the clerk, "will be two dollars."

"Mmm," said Mr. Gordon, in deep thought. Then he had an idea. To Miss Pickens he said:

"The gentleman wants two dollars. Have you two dollars by any chance, sweetheart?"

She didn't. Neither did the perfect stranger they had picked up in the lobby as a witness.

Mr. Gordon heaved a sigh and Miss Pickens echoed it. They walked out.

FIRE ROUTS 17 IN LAWRENCE

Lawrence, Oct. 9—Seventeen members of four families living in the block at 161 Union st. were driven to the street in night clothing early this morning by fire in a store on the ground floor.

Adam Duemling of 192 Union st. and Christopher Telian, who chanced to pass the door, saw the flames in the store of Charles Urban and turned in the alarm.

The upstairs tenements, occupied by the families of Urban, Joseph Caponetta, John Zeikis and Joseph Buchonis, were filled with smoke and the occupants were forced to get out.

Damage is estimated at $1500.

Needed a Leg and Forgave His 'Enemy'

Joliet, Ill. Oct. 9 (AP)—James Nosse, 21, and John Milesovich, 19, attended a party. They quarreled. James got a gun and shot John in the right leg, which subsequently had to be amputated.

John was carried to court to appear against his friend.

"I don't want to prosecute," he said. "If Jim can get out he will go to work and give me money to buy an artificial leg."

Nosse agreed and was freed.

Profiteers Face Death

Moscow, Oct. 9 (INS)—Three officers of a co-operative society at Stalino, in the Don basin, have been sentenced to death for stealing supplies from absconding workers and selling them at speculative prices.

How an Irishman glorified the Irish potato

JUST the other evening I ran across this interesting recipe for Potatoes O'Brien and the story of its origin:

O'Brien, so the story goes, was chef at Jack's, a restaurant famous for its good food back in the days when New York was small enough that you sometimes met a friend on the street. And he originated Potatoes O'Brien—a favorite dish in hotels everywhere today.

If you've thought that Potatoes O'Brien were too complicated to make at home, you'll be glad to know how easy they are—and how good! Fried in Crisco, a fat so sweet and fresh that it tastes good all by itself, potatoes really taste like potatoes.

POTATOES O'BRIEN

Dice cold boiled potatoes. Mix them with chopped raw bacon, onion and pimiento. Fry in Crisco in a frying pan as you would hashed brown potatoes. Stir occasionally until partly brown over the bottom, double over like an omelet and serve on the platter in omelet shape.

The secret of an omelet's rise

Here's an omelet that has a success hint wrapped up in it. It's browned on top of the stove and then popped into the oven to finish cooking, so that there's no chance of its falling. And, of course, the delicate, fresh-laid flavor of the eggs is preserved when you fry in Crisco—a cooking fat that tastes good just as it comes from its air-tight can.

SUCCESS OMELET

4 eggs (separated)	Few grains pepper
1 teaspoon salt	Few grains cayenne
3 tablespoons hot water	1 tablespoon Crisco

Beat egg yolks until thick and add salt, pepper and cayenne—and hot water. Mix well. Fold in lightly the stiffly beaten whites until thoroughly blended. Melt Crisco in an iron frying pan or omelet pan. Pour in the egg mixture and spread evenly. Cook over a slow fire, moving the pan occasionally so as to distribute the heat evenly. When a delicate brown underneath, put in a moderate oven (350° F.) and bake 10 or 15 minutes or until top is firm. Fold and serve on a hot platter. Garnish with parsley. As a change from plain omelet, just before serving, fold in the omelet, jelly (or hot green vegetables such as peas or asparagus).

ALL MEASUREMENTS LEVEL. Recipes tested and approved by cooking authorities. Crisco is the registered trademark of a shortening manufactured by The Procter & Gamble Company.

©1931, P. & G. CO.

Taste Crisco—then any other shortening. Crisco's sweet, fresh flavor will tell you why things made with Crisco taste so much better.

"Why don't they catch colds the way I do?"

[For one thing, they are sure to get their extra sunshine vitamin-D because their folks feed them Bond Bread]

Ask your Doctor

about this health-guarding element

YOUR DOCTOR will tell you that sunshine vitamin-D is the vital food element that helps fortify us against illness . . . promotes growth . . . builds strong bones and sound teeth. But vitamin-D is the scarcest of all the vitamins.

Up to now, the only known sources of sunshine vitamin-D were the direct rays of midday sunshine, ultra-violet sun-lamps, and medicines.

NOW—IN BOND BREAD ONLY

Now science has discovered a new way —a nourishing, delicious, inexpensive way—to give you all the extra sunshine vitamin-D you need. Eat one or two slices of Bond Bread each meal. It has the same home-like taste you know so well—the taste insured by stopping the dough's rising at the Flavor-Peak. It costs the same. But it now brings a new value in strength-building and health-guarding such as no bread ever brought before.

Other foods give you plenty of all the other vitamins. But Bond Bread is the only table-food that gives you enough vitamin-D to make up for the lack of outdoor sunshine.

Order sunshine vitamin-D Bond Bread from your grocer today.

AIMEE TO GIVE HALF TO BOSTON'S POOR

phoned Manager Dunn of the Garden and arranged a conference with him on the matter.

"Good morning lady. I'm very glad to meet you."

"You will take up a collection, of course," said the mayor.

"We are wondering if we will go over the top," said Aimee. "Our expenses are estimated at $2600 a day."

"Texas Guinan has promised us half what she gets at the Garden," pursued the mayor. "I hope you will do likewise."

'YOU PASS THE HAT'

"We could give you more than that, if you would come to one of our meetings and take up a collection," she replied.

"I will have Mr. Fox, our budget commissioner, make arrangements with your business manager," said the mayor. "I might tell you that this is the only city in the country that has not had Hoover bread lines or soup kitchens."

"I suppose we are all expected to observe the admonition of the Divine Master to share with the poor. Nobody goes hungry here, nobody goes naked and if Gandhi came here, we would probably buy him a pair of pants."

"I wish you would come down and take up a collection," said Sister Aimee.

"I'll come down and I hope sign a receipt for a decent contribution," was his reply.

"We need $2600 a day to go over the top," said Aimee.

"We are going to have the mayor come down and take up a collection."

LET ROGERS HELP

"You should have Prof. Robert E. Rogers of Technology lecture there some night," said Mayor Curley. "I attended his class in literature at the State House extension course this morning. He would be an attraction."

For 700 years in Ireland this was the symbol of authority and the chief weapon of defense. It is supposed to bring good luck. If you are going to drive the devil out of the people who go to the Boston Garden, you had better have one.

"I think that's quite a thing to give a bride."

"It is," said the mayor. "The rolling pin has gone out of use."

Mrs. Aimee Semple McPherson Hutton, with her husband, waited upon His Honor the Mayor today and at the suggestion of the mayor agreed to turn over one half of the net proceeds of the free-will offering of the revival meetings, to be held at the Boston Garden for the benefit of the public welfare department in immediate Boston.

"TEX" SET THE PACE

Mrs. McPherson Hutton stated that the expenses of conducting the meetings were about $2600 a day, but that she would be very pleased to co-operate and turn over one-half of the net receipts to the city.

"His honor's suggestion for such distribution was predicated on the agreement of the management of Boston Garden to turn over one-half of the proceeds of the exhibition to be conducted by Texas Guinan there for one week."

The Mayor [illegible] Corporation Counsel Silverman to draw up an agreement and give it to Commissioner Fox, who is to present it to the evangelist's business manager for his signature.

After her visit to the mayor, Aimee at the Hotel Lenox telephoned to Manager Dunn of the Garden and announced:

"Mr. Dunn and I are to confer later and make a decision regarding donations to charity. It has always been my policy to give something."

MIRACLE NEEDED

"The mayor knows and everybody knows that other evangelists coming into cities receive guarantees. Sunday receives guarantees of thousands of dollars. If we break even here it will be an absolute miracle. But I don't see any indication of animosity on the mayor's part.

"I told him how the mayor of Denver attended every meeting except three during several weeks."

The birthday gift of her big and strong husband, which was exhibited to reporters before the trip, was set with diamonds and turquoise.

"Is it a slave bracelet?" he was asked.

"Oh, no, no, no," said David Hutton.

"Why certainly it is," said Aimee Semple McPherson Hutton, and then her "hubby" promptly agreed.

SHE'S HEALER, TOO

"But I'm no miracle woman, and I don't claim to be," she hastily added.

"I shall pray for each one of them as a mother prays for her sick child in the dead of night."

She will receive the blind, the sick and the maimed at a divine healing service Wednesday afternoon at Boston Garden.

Today, she said, was her happiest birthday, and it encouraged her in her hope of bringing Boston back to the Bible and tossing Satan for a big loss.

"Thirty-nine!" she laughed. "Why, I feel like 16."

DAVID A TONIC

"Yes, it's my happiest birthday," she repeated.

"And all quiet on the western front," said Hutton. "No more suits. You know I only met that girl eight or nine times."

He was referring to the girl who sued him for breach of promise immediately after his recent marriage with Sister Aimee, whom the public knows as "Betty," and who was once a choir singer in Long Beach.

"Hundreds are praying day and night for you in the Boston watchtower," said the message from the student group.

FEEDS CHILDREN

Aimee remarked that she guessed the people around here didn't know what unemployment was.

"Tell 'em about feeding the kiddies," interrupted Hutton.

"Well, Angelus Temple provided lunches for 10,000 school children last spring, when their parents were penniless. The temple never loses touch with the poor and aged."

"That's out of the picture," he said.

With that the couple started for City Hall.

TICKET DEMAND HEAVY

Tonight, through the kindly agencies of Dick Dunn the Garden manager, she will become better acquainted with the gentlemen of the press at a dinner at the Lenox.

Mrs. Hutton doesn't look her 39 years.

"Not that I care if I do," she says.

"Feel it," he invites. "It's all muscle."

Mrs. Hutton has from the Garden management guarantee of a very reasonable rental and all donations over and above the rental price will go into the treasury of the Four Square Gospel to meet the expenses of the evangelist's work and charitable enterprises at the Angelus Temple.

The reserved seats are a dollar, the other ones 25 cents, a penny or $1. There has been an excellent demand and the donations have not been small.

. . . Do you know WHICH BAKING POWDER is an actual aid to HEALTH

ALL good baking powders leaven, some better than others. All have ingredients sanctioned by law, and must maintain certain standards in manufacture. But RUMFORD the pure all-phosphate BAKING POWDER has certain definite characteristics which only a pure all-phosphate baking powder can have. One of the most important is that Rumford adds real food value wherever it is used, either in baking or in general cooking.

As all housewife-cooks know, this is very important, especially in the diet of young children.

CARDINAL URGES RESPONSE TO PLEA OF POPE

Court Rebukes Big Concern for Discharging Juror

THIS IS LIFE

IN YOUR LEISURE FACE THESE DILEMMAS AND DECIDE THE ISSUE

By ROBERT E. ROGERS

ONE OF THE OBVIOUS RESULTS of the Age of Leisure, for which Labor is whooping so strongly, the six-hour day and the four-day week and all that sort of thing, is that America has suddenly discovered that we do not know what to do with our leisure now that we have it. Time must be killed somehow. Therefore, even in a depression, theaters and movies seem to be prospering, baseball is attracting its thousands, football won't do so badly and boxing and wrestling are apparently drawing far better this season than anyone ever supposed they would.

ROBERT E. ROGERS

But there are lots of people who do not like to go out and who do like to think that they are exercising their minds with something more than the radio. There are the bridge and contract hounds by the tens of thousands, in whom the belief that they are exercising their minds is particularly strong. And for those for whom even contract is too fatiguing, the old parlor game seems to be coming back. There was a time when "Twenty Questions" and "Animal, Vegetable and Mineral" —like Gilbert's Major General—were popular.

Something for Your Mind

Then suddenly, as America became sophisticated, they went out of fashion, and even the church socials out in the "sticks" deemed them too utterly rural. I suppose that nowadays the boys and girls in the vestry, after digesting a bean supper, play "Murder" and similar uplifting games.

Then as suddenly the old brain-dazzlers came back. Suddenly we were aware that Simon & Shuster, an infant publishing firm, had made a fortune out of crossword puzzle books. They are still continuing to make another fortune out of them. In the intervals of teaching us Philosophy through Mr. Durant and Thinking through the Abbe Dimnet, they continued to bring out bean-ticklers for the millions of us with too much leisure and no mental resources with which to use it profitably. There was the Anagram book—shades of our childhood—and the Mental Whoopee book, which was worse and more of it. A certain Mr. Ripley got a notion that people might be interested in proving or disproving certain seemingly preposterous statements, in believing them or not.

One could not go out to an evening party without being given a pencil and paper and set to passing General Information examinations, such as your boy and girl has to take in school, as a substitute for knowing something in particular, which has gone out of fashion.

It's a Riot or Nothing Now

And now the indefatigable Messrs. Simon & Shuster are issuing a brain wave by Leonard Hatch, whom I seem to remember years ago as a quite respectable young Harvard man of letters, before the New York life "got" him. He calls it "Dilemmas," and he and the publishers guarantee it to involve any party in a riot sufficient to break it up—if that is the ideal you are seeking in your parties.

Mr. Hatch poses a series of 30 moral and ethical dilemmas for you and your guests to decide. After you have decided you may have access to ready-made answers by personages no less than Heywood Broun, who is willing to tackle anything, painting, politics and revue producing and acting; F. P. A. (Franklin P. Adams), dean of present-day New York colyumnists, translator of Horace, incarnation of Mr. Pepys, and a genuine wit; Bruce Barton, advertising man and expert on a business-like view of the Bible with all nonsense omitted, and Christopher Morley, the Admirable Crichton of modern, polite letters. The four answer every dilemma, almost never agreeing. The advantage of this procedure is obvious. The guests can squabble politely over one another's decision, or they can squabble less politely over the Four Mouqueteers' decisions. Either way, it's lots of fun for the author and publishers.

I once read that one of the standard questions in the old-fashioned liberal arts curriculum was: name the horns of a dilemma and distinguish between them. It was a nice exercise in logic, a reduction by exclusion. But logic has gone out of fashion in the modern school, so it is not surprising to see that the long-suffering Four seem to reach their conclusions in any old way that seems easiest. Bruce Barton and Heywood Broun, Cato and Cato, junior, of modern letters, stick close to principle, oftenest, and pretty Puritanical principle at that. The wicked F. P. A. does his best to gum up the works in a nihilistic and sinful fashion, and Christopher Morley is happily and irresponsibly electic.

What Four Would You Leave?

The book was apparently suggested to Mr. Hatch by Thomas A. Edison's famous questionnaire puzzler about the party lost in the African jungles, of whom only four could be saved. But there is even older precedent for Mr. Hatch. It is said that in the year 1879 or '80, or thereabouts, hostesses at evening parties in Christiana, Norway, used to be forced to put on their invitation cards, in lieu of "Dancing," the phrase, "It is forbidden to discuss 'The Doll's House,' for those were the days when young Mr. Ibsen's scandalous play was new. Apparently, as soon as people got involved in the dilemma whether Nora should or should not have left her husband in order to express her own personality, decency and good manners were laid aside and the patrol wagon backed up at the door.

One wonders if there is anything in Mr. Hatch's book containing so much dynamite. My choice for pyrotechnics would be the one modeled on Mr. Edison's question as to what four you would leave behind forever in the jungle, if you could leave only four: Clara Bow, Al Capone, Bishop Manning, Amos 'n' Andy, Aimee Semple McPherson Hutton, Gene Tunney, Lindbergh, Freud, Henry Ford, the Prince of Wales, Admiral Byrd, Mussolini, Earl Carroll, Rudy Vallee, and Herbert Hoover?

That is the dilemma I'd back against all others for ructions. And when you come to the pronouncements of the four experts —you'd be surprised! Or, maybe, you wouldn't.

The book is too amusing to give away in advance. Suffice it to say that "The Dilemma of the Young Minister and the Parisian Postcards," "The Dilemma of the Double Divorcees and the Single Guest Room," "The Dilemma of the Dying Poet and the Bad Poem," and "The Dilemma of the Anxious Brother and the Boarding-School Sister" will really give you something to exercise the old gray matter about. That is, if you have plenty of leisure and nothing much to occupy it.

GIVES WARNING HE MUST BE CARED FOR

Company Is Told It Must Act Within 48 Hours in the Case of Father of Two Children

Declaring it was "pretty close to the line of contempt of court," Judge George Hayes in Superior Court today sharply rebuked the Hood Rubber Co. of Watertown for its discharge of a former Middlesex county juror.

To Knute Nelson, an associate manager of the rubber company, Judge Hayes declared he would wait 48 hours for a report from the ex-juror, John Barbaisi of 140 Saratoga st., East Boston, as to what the company decides to do in his case.

Barbaisi, father of two children, served during the September term in the fifth criminal session presided over by Judge Hayes of Ipswich.

When he reported for work at the rubber plant he was informed, he told Judge Hayes, that his services were no longer required.

CIRCUMSTANCES NOT KNOWN

Barbaisi's report to the court resulted in an order that an official of the Hood Rubber Co. appear before Judge Hayes, and Nelson responded.

"It is my understanding," said Judge Hayes to Nelson, "that Mr. Barbaisi, who served a term last month as a juror, has been dismissed from the Hood Rubber Co. and told there would be no further employment for him there.

"To my mind, an act of that kind is pretty close to the line of contempt of court."

Nelson replied:

"Your Honor, I am not ready to answer questions concerning any such condition, because I really don't appreciate the circumstances under which the man was let out."

COURT GIVES WARNING

"Judge Hayes: "Well, those are the circumstances, insofar as the court knows, and under the conditions as we have found them to whomever is responsible for such actions that have taken place in your company.

"A jury is drafted under much similar conditions as those which exist in time of war and jurors have no choice. To my mind, this is no time for any business to fail to co-operate with labor, especially so when a man has been ordered by the courts to serve as a juror.

"I will allow the matter to stand until such time as I hear from the juror, Barbaisi, as to what report you have given him. He has signified his willingness to go to the Hood Rubber plant, at your convenience, some time within the next 48 hours, and I will leave it with you to bring it to the attention of the responsible people."

BOSTON TO HAVE POLICE RADIO

Boston will have a radio equipped police department in the near future, declares the [illegible] bureau of the Boston Chamber of Commerce in its fortnightly review [illegible] today.

"This is our prophecy of what will be the result of the present discussion," the statement says.

"Evidence from elsewhere shows that radio has succeeded in combatting crime. The Wickershaw Commission gave it a surprisingly unqualified endorsement. It will not supplant the teletype or the signal box or blinkers, but will supplement these methods so as to produce a well-rounded out system.

"The Wickersham Committee said: 'For the safety of society and to check this growing menace to life and property the police must have the necessary equipment, both teletype and radio, to instantly spread the intelligence of the crime.

"'Detroit's efficient use of the wireless is worthy of note. Out of 22,598 broadcasts in 1929, the police made 1325 arrests at the average of one minute and 42 seconds, frequently getting the guilty person in the very act of committing his crime.'"

Wants Governor's Council Abolished

A petition calling for a constitutional amendment for abolishment of the Governor's Council was filed today in the office of the Senate clerk by Senator Donald W. Nicholson of Wareham.

Senator Nicholson and Senator James G. Moran of Mansfield were among those who appeared before the council recently in protest against the council's award [illegible] of state highway paving contracts to other than the lowest bidders.

CARDINAL'S LETTER

[illegible]

"Our Holy Father, Pope Pius XI has directed that a special collection be taken up on Sunday, October 18, Mission Sunday, for the support and maintenance of the home and foreign missions of the church.

"The proceeds of the collection are to be divided as follows: Forty per cent to the home missions and the balance to the foreign missions in a ratio to be determined by the Holy See.

ALWAYS GENEROUS

"The people of the archdiocese of Boston have always responded generously to every appeal of Christ's Vicar and I am sure that they will respond to this appeal in accordance with their means."

The Cardinal [illegible]

The archdiocese of Boston has always contributed generously to the welfare of the missions. It is in no spirit of boastfulness that we say that this archdiocese, in proportion to its numbers, has given as much to this noble cause as any other diocese in the whole Catholic world."

ALDERMAN IN WAR AGAINST ALL GROWLS

Even if Dog Can't Bark in English, Perry Is After Him; Pet Owners Up in Arms

[illegible] Somerville [illegible] proposed ordinance by Alderman Warren Perry that all dogs that bark, growl or whine or seem ferocious in any way shall be banned from the city.

[illegible]

As a dog lover I should say that such an order banning a barking dog is all wet. A dog has to bark once in a while to exercise its vocal chords. You might just as well pass a law prohibiting people from talking. In some instances it would be far better than forbidding a dog to bark."

Mrs. [illegible] of Raymond [illegible] was of the same opinion.

William A. Fuhrman of the Fellsway [illegible] German [illegible] not to bark [illegible] dog [illegible] stands [illegible] German [illegible] would [illegible] American bark.

"I should worry," he said. "The law would not affect my Etzel. He's too smart a dog to be wasting his breath. He saves his to scare off any intruders around my house."

VOT? ETZEL TALKS ONLY UMLAUT!
William A. Fuhrman of Fellsway, Somerville, who doubts if the ordinance offered by Alderman Perry will affect his Etzel, even if the proposal to banish all dogs that bark or growl does become law. "Etzel speaks no English—only German," said Fuhrman. (Staff photos.)

WE'D DO BETTER TO GAG SOME MEN!
When Miss Ruth Rideout of Powderhouse boulevard, owner of Brownie, gave voice to the belief that some speech, rather than barks could be dispensed with, she did not even mention the author of the ordinance, but whom she meant—well, that's different!

JURY TO PROBE LOANS OF CLOSED BANK

FORBES OFFERS EASY PLAN TO LIFT STOCKS

By B. C. FORBES

PRESIDENT HOOVER has hatched one corporation [illegible] all backers of missions. And the half-[illegible] not costing the government a dollar. But [illegible] example of what leadership can do [illegible]

B. C. FORBES

[illegible] of the New York Stock Exchange [illegible] selling, could make a tremendous [illegible] dent-lot with the public by perfectly [illegible] But selling does not seem to be [illegible] averse to responding to [illegible] opinion, presumably because they want to save their face. Nobody could blame them if they did.

The stock exchange authorities should heartily welcome the present opportunity to do something to nullify the existing widespread [illegible] to the stock exchange and everything it represents.

Anybody fulfilling a public function, a function supposedly in the interest of the nation, should not regard it as beneath its dignity to bow to public opinion, especially since public opinion is sure to have its own way in the end.

Interstate Commerce Leadership

I understand that highly influential [illegible] was brought to bear upon the heads of our eastern railroads to hasten their consolidation agreements. It is well known that the president of one powerful eastern system objected to one or two points, but he was given to understand that this was no time for stubborn obstruction.

The submission of the agreements to the Interstate Commerce Commission has been greatly delayed with the improvement in financial sentiment.

Leadership could and should come very much further [illegible] from the Interstate Commerce Commission. This body, like so many other governmental bodies, does not function with the celerity of a competent business organization. It is chronically clogged with work. Instead of being able to render prompt decisions, it frequently only-gallises months after month, even years.

The Interstate Commerce Commission should not delay by one avoidable hour the rendering of a decision on the application for an increase in rates.

Then, too, it should labor overtime, if necessary, to rule on the proposed creation of four eastern trunk systems.

Handling Closed Banks

New York bankers recently gave an [illegible] to handle the affairs of closed banks. Instead of letting depositors suffer interminable delay in receiving, even a fraction of their money, arrangements were made [illegible] between [illegible] sprinted banks and the State [illegible] the prompt payment of half of each deposit [illegible] having each closed bank's affairs taken over, not by the State bank superintendent but by a strong, going financial institution. The New York bank superintendent believes that [illegible] this arrangement would benefit depositors very substantially as much as 30 per cent.

Bank leaders in other cities should realize the value of [illegible] along similar lines. Happily, in Philadelphia, responsible co-operation albeit somewhat tardily—has been arranged.

Here's a leadership suggestion worthy of consideration. The shares of almost every important corporation are selling [illegible] their "real worth." In fact, there are many instances where corporations have on hand cash and government securities totaling more than the total present market value of their stocks.

In all cases where there are no legal obstacles, why should not such corporations use part of their super-abundant liquid funds to purchase their own stocks in the open market?

Nobody knows better than the executives of such corporations just how ridiculously cheap their shares now are.

Purchases Would Raise Quotations

Purchases of this kind would unquestionably serve to raise quotations quite materially. Stocks thus acquired could be utilized in whichever way the directors considered most advisable. Some corporations might allow employes to subscribe for the shares at cost price after confidence has been restored and quotations have greatly advanced. Or, such treasury shares could be retired thus strengthening the financial setup.

Or again, the shares might be retained until need arose for raising additional money. During a [illegible] boom the marketing of such shares would have a restraining effect and at the same time net the corporation enormous profit. Or even a stock dividend might be adjudged timely once prosperity has fully returned.

All corporation operations of this nature should be given full publicity, so that stockholders and investors in general would know exactly what was being done or planned.

After all, it is so ridiculous that things should have been allowed to descend to such depths of demoralization in this country at a time when it is overflowing with gold, overflowing with the bases for billions and billions of additional credit, overflowing with commodities, overflowing with efficient labor, overflowing, in short, with every ingredient necessary for the creation of robust prosperity except common sense, confidence and leadership.

NEW EXTRA-SUDS SOAP

cuts washing time, gets clothes whiter—costs less

● If you would save your strength on washday, remember this, suds are the secret of successful washings.

Richer suds speed washing and give you cleaner, whiter clothes.

This proved fact prompted the makers of Ivory Soap to perfect their new soap sensation—Oxydol—a new-type soap with truly amazing sudsing power.

Oxydol is a real boon to women everywhere because it eases the hardest tasks in housekeeping.

Oxydol is supercharged (with pure, rich soap) for 50% more suds than other soaps in granulated form. Its richer, extra suds outlast and outwash all others.

Choose the suds that do most work for you

Don't wear yourself out doing work that suds can do for you. Oxydol's richer suds actually do more of the hard work for you.

Weak, old-type suds shirk on the job. They fail to get things really clean because they quickly fizzle away to watery thinness.

So, when you buy soap, bear in mind that it's not soap, but suds, that you are really paying for. Oxydol gives you more, and richer, suds for your money than any soap you've ever used.

When suds fizzle and fall, the dirt falls back also. When this happens the dirt sinks itself in your clothes, giving you streaky, gray washings.

This never happens with Oxydol suds—they are the longest-lasting, most upstanding suds you've ever seen.

Soaks clothes white

Soap-wise women no longer tax their strength with needless rubbing—they soak things snowy white in live Oxydol suds. These new-type suds simply rout the dirt right out of even the dirtiest clothes. And every piece you wash comes out white and sweet as clover—because it is actually cleaner.

Softens hard water

Oxydol works just as magically, gives the same extra suds, in either hard or soft water. It saves the expense of water softeners. And don't forget, even the softest water is hardened the moment you put soiled clothes or dirty dishes into it.

Wonderful for dishes—and kind to the hands

Dishes are sparkling bright and clean in double time with Oxydol. And your hands will tell you by the comfortable way they feel that Oxydol is the perfect soap for even your most delicate things. It's made from only the purest and finest ingredients—as you would expect from the makers of Ivory Soap.

Mothers are especially enthusiastic over the soft and dainty way it leaves children's and babies' clothes.

Ask your grocer today for the big-sized orange and blue package of Oxydol. You'll be delighted when you discover how much time and work it saves for you.

Out of the Lives of Some People!

TALLULAH BANKHEAD—She was about five or six years old—she doesn't recall the exact age—when she climbed to the highest branch of the highest chestnut tree in the yard of her grandfather, Senator Bankhead, in Huntsville, Ala. The reason she climbed to the highest branch of the highest chestnut tree was that she wanted to be alone with a fine [illegible] from her grandfather's [illegible] ... head [illegible] next day she decided to become an actress.

[illegible] later, the kid went to his death, trying to save a friend from drowning.

RUDY VALLEE—Back in his days in New Haven when he and Peter [illegible] were playing in an orchestra together for coffee and [illegible] ... snubbed him for the [illegible] who [illegible] ended up by wedding a jewelry [illegible] ...

GILBERT SELDES— [illegible] ... had an important engagement that night and [illegible]

JIMMY DURANTE—A lad he knew [illegible] up one night and [illegible] over the phone [illegible] Jimmy listened. The fellow was conducting a [illegible] argument with his sweetheart. "Listen [illegible], Jimmy!" he [illegible] yelled into the phone. Jimmy listened. He heard a shot. The chap had shot himself.

J. FRED COOTS—He saw a little girl whom he thought had great possibilities. He promoted himself into the role of agent and tried to sell her to the Shuberts for $[illegible] a week. "Stick to your piano playing, kid," they advised him. "You don't know how to pick them." So he went back to his piano, but the little girl went to the Shuberts [illegible] just the same [illegible] ...

FAY MARBE— [illegible] in on the Kaiser [illegible] ... The Kaiser [illegible] "... you come in [illegible] I admire the [illegible] of American [illegible] ..." ... with an answer of extraordinary [illegible] ... "You know why I wanted to meet you? Because I had heard [illegible]." The interview ended at that point.

MIRIAM HOPKINS—She was carried to a hospital one night in the arms of a young [illegible] who was trying to make a living as a playwright. He was [illegible] dressed and she noticed particularly a worn section on the knee of his trousers which she volunteered to sew up for him. She made a mental resolve that some day when she reached the top she'd do something worthwhile for him because he was doomed to be a [illegible]. She reached the top as a movie star, but she hasn't been able to do [illegible] for the lad because he doesn't need [illegible] ... Marc Connelly [illegible] playwright who had something or other to do [illegible] with Green Pastures.

CHARLES RUGGLES— [illegible] ... opened in something called "Soldiers of Fortune" ... he came out on the stage battered, torn and [illegible] ... a tattered American flag and [illegible] ... From the fourth row [illegible] ... to his feet and shouted ... did.

RICHARD HALLIBURTON— [illegible] to London in 1919. He was a dancing master in Paris. He climbed the Matterhorn in Switzerland, but forgot to write a book about it. He was shanghaied by pirates off the coast of Hong Kong and [illegible] ... He swam the Hellespont, ... the last seven miles in a taxicab ... He dived into the sacred wells of Yucatan where thousands of years ago they hurled virgins into the water. The virgins usually perished—and probably [illegible] ... but Halliburton didn't from which you may draw your own conclusions. But what interests me chiefly is that he swam the Panama Canal [illegible] on a tonnage basis because he [illegible] ... cents—but it cost the government $[illegible].

HARRY HERSHFIELD—He was on the air [illegible] minutes he had been talking without realizing that the mike was [illegible]. When he was told he relaxed and for the entertainment of those present burst into a [illegible] story. But the mike had been connected in the interim and the yarn went [illegible] over the ether.

GEORGE BANCROFT—As a Western Union messenger boy he fought for the chance to deliver a telegram to a young man who was becoming great pumpkins in the theater. A chap named George M. Cohan. Bancroft got the telegram to him in nothing flat. "What's the matter, kid?" asked the actor, "you been running?" Bancroft panted, "Yes, sir. You bet. Yes, sir." Cohan took out a nickel and handed it to him. Bancroft started for the door. "Come back here," said Cohan. "Give me that nickel." The boy handed it back. Cohan handed him a dime. Again Bancroft started for the door and again Cohan called him back. "So you ran all the way to deliver this to me, did you?" he asked. "Give me back that dime." He handed Bancroft a quarter. This time Bancroft took his time about reaching the door, but Cohan didn't call him back. Years later, now a cinema star, Bancroft met Cohan again and reminded him of the episode. Then taking out a $100 bill he tore it in half and handed it to the actor. "You punk," yelled Cohan. "You can't do that to me." He drew out a bill of similar denomination from his pocket, tore it in half and tossed Bancroft's share at him. "Now," he chirped, "we'd both have a headlight for our autobiography, if any."

BUD FISHER—A horse that he prized was Sporting Blood. In Miami he was offered $115,000 in cash for the nag, but merely shook his head. "You can't buy that horse," he said. The offer was raised to $125,000 but still the cartoonist refused. A few days later he returned home to find that Sporting Blood had died of heart failure.

MORTON DOWNEY—It was a year or so after he married Barbara Bennett that the warbler was playing the Palace Theater. A gray-haired gent walked out of a box onto the stage in the midst of his act, interrupted his number and yelled "How are [illegible] boy?" ... Downey fretted, stormed, "No!" ... "your father-in-law." The audience howled, but Downey grabbed him by the shoulders and started to push him off the stage ... Bennett [illegible] off. That was how Downey and his father-in-law met for the first time.

BEATRICE LILLIE—When [illegible] was presented with her first pair of long [illegible] ... weeks thereafter folks found her missing at odd times [illegible] in the morning or afternoon. Finally, she broke down and confessed. She'd been making it her business to attend every funeral in town.

BILLIE BURKE—She was attending a New Year's Eve shindig at the Sixty Club with [illegible] Maugham, the playwright. A fellow dressed as a tramp kept eyeing her up and down. Suddenly, he disappeared. Half an hour later, a gent in evening dress was introduced to her, Flo Ziegfeld. He admitted he was the tramp. So after awhile they were married.

[illegible] ... I used to watch her every performance from the wings. She was kind as a mother to me. I asked her to teach me.

"With great pleasure, my son," she said in French. "Come to me, and I will teach you my way."

It was she who first discovered I had drama[illegible] ability. Up to that time I had been clowning and singing, all comedy work.

"Practice, practice, practice!" That was her incessant advice to me.

"'Recite as much as you can,' she would say.

"'Always make progress and you will never lose, but you will strengthen your talent,' she urged.

"Then later she said the words that are the proudest I ever heard, that I treasure is my richest possession. She said to me:

"'Some day, my son, you will be a great dramatic star. Then you shall remember that it was I, Sarah Bernhardt, who said it—and Sarah Bernhardt never made a mistaken prediction in her life.'"

[illegible] M. Boreo, as a [illegible] of his appreciation and love for the Divine Sarah, has performed one of the sketches she taught him, at each performance of [illegible].

Gangsters Doomed

It is no secret, curtains or what have you for gangster pictures. At a recent meeting of the Motion Picture Producers and Distributors of America a motion was made to co-operate with the Parent-Teachers Association throughout the country and cease glorifying the crooks or making a Robinhood of these professional racketeers.

Tiffany, which had just started on a picture called 'X Marks the Spot,' stopped producing and changed the story into a newspaper yarn. Let's hope in this instance the newspapers are made to act like human beings and not like underworld characters. Wallace Ford, who just finished a role with Joan Crawford in "Rose-ge," will play the lead.

I have an idea 'X Marks the Spot' will be something on the order of "Front Page" with Lew Cody as a managing editor in an Adolphe Menjou characterization. I saw Lew just before I left Hollywood and he told me that he was glad to get away from the drunken-man-about-town parts.

Emile Boreo Sees Stage in Big Comeback

Born Boris Seeles—last name pronounced with a hissing s and therefore hangs a funny story. At the age of 19 I was at the Sorbonne in Paris. I had to make money, so I hired out as a clarinet in the theater. I got five francs a day.

Paris I was once struck. One day sitting in the theater I was inscribing my name in the usual hills and I already heard the audience shouting, as it's done abroad, Bravo. It's time followed by the artist's name. I could hear my name—but the hissing s at the end chilled on my senses. Never did be one famous the applause would sound like hisses. So forthwith I selected my stage name—Emile from Zola, my favorite author, and Boreo out of my first name, ending it with an o to avoid the hissing s of Boris.

THE STRANGE 'NINETIES'

An Evening Ensemble

SKETCHED IN PARIS

The late years of the nineteenth century are obviously the inspiration for this evening ensemble from Schiaparelli. The sleeves of the ruby velvet jacket are of pure leg-o'-mutton vintage, the big sash bow likewise of the same decade. Very crinkly rough crepe in navy white makes the simple frock, with tiered hipline and deep side folds at the back of the skirt.

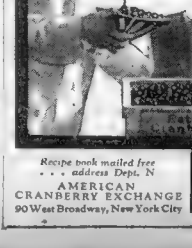
Fashion Notes

THE BLIZZARD of white still continues to cover the evening scene. One of the prettiest of the new evening frocks is of white net with side panels striped with small heart and jade bead. There are shoulder straps of similar beads.

Daisies tell of smallness for the costume jewelry necklace. One of the most modish is fashioned of several strands of tiny yellow and white daisies in rope form. This is fastened with two large white ivory balls.

EATMOR CRANBERRIES are now on the market



* * * Here they are again! Eatmor Cranberries...the famous fruit of Fall...the ruby-red berries with a flavor all their own... rich in Vitamin C. Economical, too, and easy to prepare. Here's an infallible Cranberry Sauce recipe.

4 cups (1 lb. or qt.) Cranberries
2 cups water 1½ to 2 cups sugar

Boil sugar and water together 5 minutes; add cranberries and boil without stirring (5 minutes is usually sufficient—all the skins pop open. Remove from the fire when the popping stops and allow the sauce to remain in vessel undisturbed until cool. For a thinner sauce, just bring water and sugar to a boil—then add berries and let them cook until they stop popping.

Help! Help! Help! — The Sport Menu.
Too Much Doing! — Give It the O. O.
Where'll We Go? — You'll Be Dizzy.

Everything on Card From Soup to Nuts

Just look and see what's doing 'twixt now and Monday night,
Football galore tomorrow, on Monday the Sharkey fight.
At Rockingham auto races, at Dartmouth—Holy Cross!
And Fordham Ram and Eagle will clinch to see who's Boss
There's so much on the menu that tickles your palate so,
You'll all get dizzy planning on where, oh where, to go

Whoops, My Dear! There's a ring around the moon and the sporting editor has a hunched back! What a week-end and what a week's beginning! Pep Martin and the world's serious still is on. In the offing are a whole flock of football games. There's the big Sharkey-Carnera fight in New York and the big auto race at Rockingham. No one can kick on that bill of fare. Something on the menu to please everyone. Let's look it over. More Pepper Martin, today! Turn the sports pages over to tomorrow's football. Just see what is on the card—Holy Cross vs. Dartmouth, Yale vs. Georgia, Harvard vs. New Hampshire, Notre Dame vs. Northwestern, Army vs. Michigan State, Navy vs. Maryland. Harvard vs New Hampshire is the only soft one in that lot and the Granite State boys may not prove as soft as expected. Then there's Princeton vs. Brown, Penn vs. Franklin & Marshall, Cornell vs. Richmond, Columbia vs. Wesleyan, Amherst vs. Union, Pittsburgh vs. W. Va., Michigan vs. Chicago, Colgate vs. Lafayette and Georgetown vs. N. Y. U.

For intersectional delicasies we have Syracuse vs. Ohio Wesleyan, Stanford vs. Minnesota and Wisconsin vs. Alabama Poly. The locals and games close to home include B. U. vs. George Washington—so they're bringing George back, eh?—Maine vs. Conn. Aggies, Colby vs. Tufts, Lowell Textile vs. Arnold, Williams vs. Bowdoin, Mass. Aggies vs. Middlebury, Springfield vs. Rutgers, Providence vs. Vermont and Bates vs. Norwich.

Boston College and Fordham are not playing tomorrow. What! No bananas? But they're playing on Monday. Right here in Fenway Park. And Boy, Oh Boy, before that game is over they will be ringing for the ambulances and calling the cops!

One reason why Boston will make whoopee over the Fordham-B. C. game—there are 24 Massachusetts boys on the Maroon squad, 6 from Connecticut and 3 from Maine. Of the squad of 47, New England furnishes 33. Fordham is just as Boston as Boston College.

Speaking of Bay State boys, Brown is taking a flock of 'em to Princeton for tomorrow's game. Included in Our Gang are Capt. Paul Mackesey of Lynn, E. B. Marsan, Bondsville; H. L. Harris, Mansfield; M. C. Ball, Wakefield; R. A. Hapgood, Newton Highlands; F. S. Munroe, Peabody; L. C. Brown and R. K. Brown, Lancaster; J. W. Hardt, Attleboro; Bill Skinner, Dennisport, and J. E. Spellman, Worcester. There are eight Providence boys among this year's Brunoians. They are Gilbane, Gilmartin, Buonanno, Gammino, Roteeli, Caito, Capasso, Letoille, Patton and Batchelder.

Louis Schneider, winner of the Indianapolis $100,000 race, and the 1931 auto racing champion, will have to ride as never before to win at Rockingham next Monday. Among the dare devils who will be out to lead him home are "Shorty" Cantlon, winner of the Altoona Labor Day classic; Lou Moore, who won at Altoona on July 4; Fred Frame, who finished second to Schneider at Indianapolis; Frank Brisko, the Mid-West champion; Billy Winn, the Southern champion; Arch Powell, Labor Day winner at Rockingham; Ralph DePalma, who has headed or been near the front of the procession for a quarter century; Leon Duray, Russell Snowberger, Paul Bost, Chief Sun Hawk, Jimmy Patterson, Buddy Moquin, Bert Karnatz, Leon Beals and Zeke Meyers.

That comes close to being one of the greatest field of auto racers that ever answered the call to post. No wonder Manager Dick Dunn declares that more than 75,000 persons will throng the Rockingham track next Monday. If the weather is good Dick may see his predictions fulfilled, for 45,000 were attracted to Rockingham last Labor Day.

On the Weather Man next Monday night's Sharkey-Carnera bout also will stand or fall. Boston still is solid for Sharkey. A further canvass of Hub sporting resorts finds the majority opinion that the Garrulous Gob will be too fast and clever for the Man Mountain. Most of the fight followers think Sharkey will have big Primo falling all over himself and will outbox him all the way or knock him for a row of gondolas on the Grand Canal. We personally ha'e our doots. We'll speak our piece about the Garrulous Gob and the Tall Tower of Gorgonzola, tomorrow.

"Everyone should know how Yale stands and what to expect from her," says the Yale Daily News in an editorial advocating Yale playing a football game for charity. It further says that even winning from Harvard is not as important as "raising several hundred thousand dollars to succor families on the edge of death from hunger this winter." Hats off to Old Eli! Now if John Harvard only will do his share, something is bound to happen!

Old Eli Yale has spoken, John, now what have you to say?
Why close your ears to Charity forever and a day?
We know you've loaned your Stadium, John—for that we all thank you,
But John, Old Boy, be a regular sport and give your Big Team, too!

Harvard Blasts Yale for Urging Charity Battle

Harvard Crimson, undergraduate daily publication, took the Yale student council to task for urging a post-season football game in New Haven for the benefit of the unemployed. Said Crimson editorial:

"While there is need for such a commendable consideration of the crisis, it is unfortunate that a college football team is required to furnish an additional spectacle and that in times like these an indirect method of taxation is needed to supplant the chiseling of chirity. But that is Yale's business," it added

Hanover High Tied

Hanover, N. H., Oct. 9—The Dartmouth recreational football team and Hanover high battled to a scoreless tie on Chase field here.

Gibson May Get Jewel Ens' Berth

Pittsburgh, Oct 9 (AP)—The Pittsburgh Pirates will have a new manager next season.

Jewel Ens, who succeeded Donie Bush as leader of the Bucs in 1929 was unconditionally released by the Pittsburg club late yesterday

George Gibson, former Pirate catching star, and one time manager of the team, is reported slated for Ens' job, but club officials declined to comment while announcing the dismissal of Ens

Under Ens' management the Pirates finished in fifth place both in 1930 and this year

Charlie Parker in Quest of Bouts

Charlie Parker, popular South End welterweight, who defeated Tony Acquaro and Frankie Herlihey in his two comeback bouts, is eager to box any welterweight in New England and prefers to meet the winner of the Horatio Velha-Nap Proulx feature event at Salem Monday night.

AND WHAT'LL KING PEP DO, TODAY?

He's at it again—PEP MARTIN! Your new pal, Pepper, the St. Louis Kid, who stopped the baseball world from talking about the World Series and set them to rhapsodizing on PEP MARTIN. Here you see the baseball sensation of the year taking his stance at bat. You see him looking over his war clubs When Pep picks out his bludgeon the pitchers tremble, even the greatest of 'em. Be it Lefty Grove or George Earnshaw, they all look alike to King Pep.

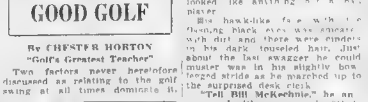
GOOD GOLF

By CHESTER HORTON
"Golf's Greatest Teacher"

Two factors never heretofore discussed as relating to the golf swing at all times dominate it.



Lacking a knowledge of their influence you'll not likely ever get beyond the irritating stage of speeding yourself along from bad to worse, stopping now and then to bite your teeth and reflect, with diminishing determination, on the capacity of the (deletion) golf ball to fight you. There is a lot of science in the golf swing—may be none of it in yours, but I mean in the correct swing which produces pars. The two dominating factors are Force and Resistance. Knowledge of what these are and what they do has as much to do with mastering the golfing action as acquiring the fine form we hear so much about. Force is the power you put into your clubhead. Usually this power is thought of as physical force. Resistance is air pressure against the ball plus gravity. Keep in mind, when reading articles which follow, that Force means clubhead force.

Here's the Life Story of 'Pepper' Martin

This is the first of a series of stories on the life of John "Pepper" Martin, hero of the World Series, who has been the [illegible] the side of Connie Mack's Athletics. The [illegible] will show how a player [illegible] His story ought to be an inspiration to [illegible]

By MYLES T. McSWEENEY

John "Pepper" Martin was born on [illegible] Temple, Okla. The dispatch telling of his [illegible] feet eight inches [illegible] and weighed 180 pounds

This report is a [illegible] only about 24 inches [illegible] and weighed about eight pounds when [illegible] And strange to [illegible] he was born [illegible] shoes

He learned to wear [illegible] In fact he first [illegible] when he joined the St. Louis Cardinals

Previous to this [illegible] had tried school [illegible] and about everything [illegible] coming hero should have [illegible]

"Pepper" was forced to [illegible] school in 1918 and despite the warning of his parents, who wanted him to become President [illegible] became a baseball player

Shaped Up Like Hobo Reporting to Cards

Early in the spring of [illegible] stumbled into the lobby of [illegible] St. Louis Cardinals hotel in Avon Park Fla., a haggard [illegible] traveled strained young [illegible] who looked like anything but a ball player

His hawk-like face with [illegible] flashing black eyes was smeared with dirt and there were cinders in his dark touseled hair. Just about the last swagger he could muster was in his slightly bow legged stride as he marched up to the surprised desk clerk

"Tell Bill McKechnie," he announced with a weary grin "that his new center fielder has arrived."

Sunk deep in an easy [illegible] feet away his face [illegible] per, the manager of the Cardinals raised his eyes at the [illegible] name

He looked from the [illegible] of what might have [illegible] to the inquiring gaze of the desk clerk. He moved his head a trifle from side to side and retreated again behind his paper

"He's not here just now," the desk man announced, "but I'll fix you up with a room"

Rode Rods to Reach Camp

Thus it was that John Leonard Martin, World Series hero, joined the Cardinal ball club He had spent the money sent him to pay his fare from Oklahoma City to the training camp. He had to ride the rods of freight trains to get there.

A hot bath changed his appearance considerably and he was back at the desk again, looking for McKechnie. The first fellow he met who would talk to him was an old friend, Blake Harper, owner of the Fort Smith Club, in the Western Association. It was Harper who had greeted Martin as follows [illegible] when he applied for work [illegible]

"What's your name?"

"Johnny Martin"

"Nope," said Harper "You're 'Pepper' Martin. There are too many Johnnys in the league now."

Sat on Bench the First Season

Pepper wasn't exactly telling the truth. He sat on the Cardinal bench through that season, and he was farmed out to Houston, Texas, for the 1929 campaign and Rochester in the International League in 1930. The past National League campaign was his first in the majors.

He's the kind of a ball player his mates can't talk enough about. Cocky, but in no way offensive, simple, unaffected, certain of his own ability, but by no means impressed with his own importance. He was walking through the Cardinal special heading back to St. Louis, happy as a kid with a new fishing rod, getting all the Cardinals to sign a score card for him as a memento

"What do you think of the series?" he was asked as he bustled around in his shirt sleeves, his collar open, the ends of his tie dangling down his shirt front He stopped for a minute and pondered. There was absolutely no thought of himself as he answered with a big grin:

"Well, I think it's great. We're winning, ain't we? And what a break for me. Playing in a World Series in my first year in the majors. Why, some good players spend a whole life time

Notre Dame String Likely to Be Broken

[illegible] Michigan should have no trouble with Chicago while Ohio State will have its hands full with Vanderbilt

Notre Dame pupils clash in the Florida North Carolina game and the result is bound to be close, but Florida has the edge because Collins lost to Vanderbilt last week Villanova should win from Duke, where Wade has not yet been able to get his new system started properly Georgia Tech [illegible] to avenge the drubbing that it received from Carnegie Tech a year ago and may be able to do it

The best game of [illegible] is that between [illegible] and Texas [illegible] the only game that Texas lost, and this year the Longhorns [illegible] will beat Rice because Texas is loaded for bear in preparation for the Harvard game two weeks hence

Every game is good out on the Pacific Coast. Southern California and Washington State [illegible] in the game that the latter won a year ago 7 to 6 and with it the championship, but this year no such title is at stake and Southern California should win easily.

ELI COACHES FAVOR GAME

[illegible]

I would be very much in favor of the benefit idea. The university will never have to worry about the football boys. They'll come to the front. We would be very glad to co-operate to the fullest extent.

Yale said:

"The players would like to have this game. If the Yale football team could in any way aid unemployment by playing football with another college after the season closes I am positive the players would welcome such an opportunity."

Punts, Passes and Fumbles

By BILL GRIMES

[illegible]

Eddie Casey is not exactly loquacious, but when he becomes sufficiently riled he can and does pen with the best of them. Tommy Gilligan can substantiate this assertion.

The Holy Cross squad left this morning [illegible]

Tony Colucci, the Holy Cross end, won his class football numerals at Dartmouth four years ago. Tony stayed in Hanover until the close of the football season and then resigned from college, offering as an excuse that he was homesick.

[illegible]

Percy Wendall, former Harvard captain, who has not been in the best of health since the war, has improved noticeably since he received his appointment to assist Rufus Bond with the freshman squad.

After the reports his scouts [illegible]

Pete Chesnulevich is rapidly racing to the front ranks of the Boston College ball carriers, but most of Chessy's success is due to the effective blocking of Johnny Dougan.

[illegible] Johnny Dougan can throw a block with as much power as a 200-pounder. He is a natural blocker and takes them out whether they are giants or just average weight gridsters.

Boston University is confident that they will break into the games won column at the expense of George Washington. Until Prof. Rogers came to bat with his "give the game back to the players" plan, the Terriers were developing a far better spirit than they ever displayed. The boys do not cotton to plan of the new dean of athletics and physical education.

Many of the Holy Cross enthusiasts are of the opinion that [illegible] Dartmouth [illegible] has been out of action with a [illegible] knee and Capt. McEwan has stated that the giant Worcester boy will be held in reserve for Fordham.

Hundreds of football fans will head for Hanover tomorrow to see just how Sammy Fishman, the Malden boy, conducts himself under fire. Fishman will not start against the Crusaders, but he will relieve Bill Morton.

B. U. SQUAD ASK RULES CHANGED

On the eve of their game with George Washington University [illegible] the new policy of the Back Bay [illegible] "player control" in competitive athletics.

According to Dr. Frederick Rand Rogers, new dean of the department of physical education, the players were "so very much upset." The rule banishing coaches to the [illegible] only.

"The following week," he said, "we shall go ahead with the new plan, which provides for an increase in the responsibilities of the captains in all college sports.

"Entire responsibility will not be placed on the captains at first, but the coaches will gradually withdraw control, until by the end of each season the captains of teams will be in full command."

Dean Rogers [illegible] captains acting for them should plan their own strategy. He said the system had been in effect in [illegible] schools in New York State three to five years, and in [illegible] a number of the larger [illegible]

He emphasized the statement that no strike was threatened by the football players.

Right End Is Lost to Norwich Team

Northfield, Vt., Oct. 9—A Norwich football regular was injured when HaroldEspey, who was to have started at right end against Bates tomorrow, wrenched a leg.

The injury is serious enough to keep him off the gridiron a week or more.

Sun Beau Runs Bankroll to $376,744 by Chi Win

Chicago, Oct. 9 (I.S.)—Old Sun Beau himself, the Beau of Binghamton, for the third year in succession, captured the $25,000 Hawthorne gold cup and stepped farther out in front as the world's greatest money winner of the turf.

The $25,000 may have been just another bunch of bananas to Willis Sharpe Kilmer, who owns old Sun Beau, but it pushed the champion's total winnings in his five years of racing to $376,744 and will make it just that much more difficult for some horse of the future to surpass.

It was the fourth time this season that Sun Beau has won a race of $25,000 added money on a Chicago track. His three previous wins were in the Arlington cup, the Arlington handicap and the Lincoln handicap.

At the finish Sun Beau was a length and a half in front of Mate. Plucky Play was third. He covered the mile and a quarter in the ordinary time of 2:05.

CELTICS FACE McGREGORS

Several interesting soccer tilts are carded for Sunday in the Boston and District and Bay State leagues with the leaders in each circuit meeting stiff opposition.

In the B. and D. league Clan McGregors, which are tied with the Beacon A. C. for the top berth, are scheduled to battle the strong Celtics eleven at St. [illegible] sq., and the Beacons are slated to oppose the [illegible] traveling Norwegian eleven at North Brighton.

The Kilties and the Beacons have each won four straight without a defeat, but either one of them is [illegible] to fall by the wayside on Sunday.

Other [illegible] in the veteran loop are Hyde Park and Sturtevants at Readville, and Dorchester, Waverly and Fall & Son at Franklin Field.

TAKES PLACE OF RECORD AT WING

Selection of Tom Nazro to start at left end for Harvard in place of Red Record was the single change in the Harvard lineup announced today by Coach Eddie Casey.

[illegible]

Some surprise was felt when it was announced that Nazro had won the left wing position over Vahan Moushegian, varsity wing campaigner.

Eugene Record would have started in place of either Nazro or Moushegian, but the sorrell topped flyer from Brookline sustained an injury recently.

Casey put his eleven through a [illegible]

SCHOOL NOTES

By GEO. W. GRIMM

Newton high school's "four horsemen" are ready to show that they form a great backfield when they face Everett at Newton tomorrow afternoon in a game that will have much to do with who's who in schoolboy football.

In the quartet are "Moon" Duane, Bill Mullen, Walter Backler and Warren Huston. They form one of the best backfields in schoolboy football and expect to run wild against Everett.

Coach Cosodine and Coach Sanborn of Newton are not going to let Dinny Gildea at Everett get away with any of that Notre Dame stuff on them.

Gildea has a big and a small team which he uses when occasion demands. And Newton has the same idea. Newton has a big and a small team that will be used alternately.

In fact you may see something that resembles a double-header on Saturday at the new Dickinson Field at Newton with the big teams and then the little teams of the rival schools battling.

It looks like a red hot schoolboy battle at Fenway Park this afternoon with Boston College high and Latin School colliding.

B. C. high tied English last week, coming from behind in the last period to wind up with the score six all. That was the day Tom Brennan caught a very remarkable pass for the touchdown.

B. C. high annually affords a basis for comparison between the great Boston rivals, Latin and English. If B. C. high whips Latin today, and don't be surprised if this happens, English will be the choice at this early date to win the Thanksgiving Day battle.

The junior Eagles of Art McManus, with almost a new team, will be playing better ball than ever today. The new men have come along fast, and the two sterling backfield veterans, Nick Morris and Tom Brenran, should guide the team to victory.

"Flash" Hurley, who was christened Leo, and who is captain of the Jamaica Plain eleven, is headed all-scholasticward. Leo is a great lineman, whose mixing in every play just can't be missed by those who pick "all" teams.

Somerville is expecting to beat Medford on Columbus Day, because two of the stars who were absent against Waltham, Denny Lynch and Bill Chesterfield (not an ad) are back again.

Captain Phil Dwyer of Belmont, one of the best football players in the Middlesex loop, will lead his club against Stoneham tomorrow afternoon at Belmont and hopes to see his team get hot after the title.

Notre Dame Club to Play Eagle C. C.

On Sunday afternoon at the Marsila st. grounds, Roxbury, the Eagle Catholic Club will play the strong Notre Dame A. A. of South Boston. Bill Boehner, Boston College, will referee the game.

SPORTS REEL

Jewel out of Pittsburgh setting! Jewel Ens, manager of Pittsburgh, has been given his unconditional release by the Pirates. Ens is one of a string of Bucc pilots. He succeeded Donie Bush a couple of years back. The Pirates finished fifth both seasons under Ens. No new boss will be named now. They'll hold the news until football is out of the way. Dorothy Richards of Weston staged a great finish in the Townshend cup golf play at Belmont Springs to take runnerup position. Fritzie Stifel of Wheeling, Va., won the cup. Miss Richards' fighting finish landed her only four strokes back of Miss Stifel. The Weston star provided the big thrill of the tourney.

The Daily Dozen

Pardon us, Mr. Mack, but would you ask your pitchers to please pass the "Pepper?"

They tell us that Martin began his baseball career barefooted. We weren't born with shoes on, either.

St. Louis is already to hail Gabby as "the Street of victory."

Lew Schneider, who is entered in the automobile speed classic at Rockingham on Columbus Day, used to be a motorcycle cop in Indianapolis. Ask him what's his hurry next Monday. He may stop and tell you.

Schneider got so tired of chasing race drivers like Tommy Milton and Pete DePaolo, that he resigned and decided to make other cops chase him for a change.

The reason Schneider is such a good racer is that he still thinks he is a cop. And always wants to catch those ahead of him, to bawl them out.

Lew is very superstitious. He will never drive a car without wheels.

And he always fills his tank with gas.

"Pepper" Martin stabbed' . . . Headline.

It turns out that he was "stabbed" by the needle shower he took in Philadelphia.

Showing that it is dangerous as well as foolish to take a bath.

Still Pepper may wash up those A's . . . Please pass the towel.

Crusaders Feared by Green Eleven

Hanover, N. H., Oct. 9—Dartmouth experts [illegible] this season.

No scrimmage was given any of the elevens. The first three elevens went through a long signal workout, followed by a dummy scrimmage in which these teams stood in against Holy Cross formations as by the fourth team.

The practice was held under strictest secrecy. The big Green's formations were not at their best and the execution of forward passes was poor.

Holy Cross Leaves for Green Clash

Worcester, Oct. 9—Holy Cross concluded training for the Dartmouth game with a rehearsal lasting more than two hours, during which Coach Capt. John J. McEwan put the squad through its plays from start to finish.

A Natural Ball Player, Says Frisch

Gabby Street's voice [illegible]

"He's naturally a great ball player," says Frankie Frisch, who taught him to slide headfirst when stealing bases. "He can hammer the ball or drag his hits. He's a streak on base, a great thrower, a grand fielder. He never makes a mistake. And what a fellow to have on a ball club. Full of fun, never moody. And what a fighter.

"Bill Herman, the Cubs' second baseman, tried to block him off going into the bag one day. Pepper hit him in the middle. Herman landed in left field and the ball into the dugout.

"'What about it?' asks Pepper, to Herman as he gets up and dusts himself.

"And what do you think he said to me on the bench before the sixth inning of that last game in Philadelphia?

"'Get on Frankie,' he says, 'get on. I'm going to hit one nine miles.'

"Well, I got on. And all he did was hit one nine miles right into those seats. You can't beat that kind of a ball player."

Pepper's Father Irish; Mother Is English

There's been considerable conjecture as to the nationality of Martin. The youngster himself doesn't help the argument much.

"My father was Irish," he says, "and in the background is some German and Dutch. My mother is English and my wife says I'm Scotch. I once played football with the Hominy Indians, but I never saw the Osage country which is in the northeast portion of Oklahoma, not the south, where I hail from. So figure that out for yourself."

This talk about Sharkey retiring and giving all of his attention to Ernie Schaaf following the Carnera bout is bunk. Sharkey is only 28 years of age and intends to remain in the thick of the fight game. Johnny Buckley, his manager, is already trying to line up Tommy Loughran and Mickey Walker as opponents for the American heavyweight champion in bouts to be held during the coming winter.

[illegible]

Sharkey broke with the New York Garden when it failed to go through with his meeting with Victorio Campolo a year ago last September. He went along with Johnston. The latter, chiefly due to the Sharkey-Walker bout, made a substantial boxing profit last summer. The Garden on the other hand was heavily in the red.

[illegible]

Leon See, manager of Carnera, told this writer that Primo will box two or three times at the Garden during the indoor season. See has already agreed to a bout between Carnera and Paulino which will be staged in November.

See stated that Johnston brought about the re-instatement of Carnera in New York, and that he intends to string along with him.

See declared Carnera is down to 259 pounds for his bout with Sharkey. This is 17 pounds lighter than the Italian heavyweight was when he stopped Pat Redmond last June. See, however, says Carnera only scaled 262 for his winning bout with George Godfrey.

Casey Picks Yale to Win

Stanford is entertaining Minnesota and is the likely winner to decide the scoreless tie of a year ago. Olympic Club of San Francisco has enough old-time coast stars to beat Bill Ingram, who has not yet got his California pupils working the way that he wants them to go.

Up in the Pacific Northwest, Jimmie Phelan, old Purdue coach, will be favored to lead his University of Washington Huskies to victory over Fat Spears at the University of Oregon, even though the result was the other way a year ago.

Another exclusive article on football by Eddie Casey will appear in the sports pages of the Boston Evening American on Tuesday.

Brown Wires Hoover About Bear Sellers

President A. S. Brown, Jr., of Brown's Letters, Inc., has telegraphed President Hoover to the effect that confidence of business has been ... for more than a year by professional ... selling. Mr. Brown's message concludes:

"A two-day ban on short selling worked well. Why not ask the board of governors of the New York Stock Exchange to ban short selling entirely for 60 days? If they will not comply with your request, it will be because they knew the quick recovery that would follow would be conclusive evidence to the public that short selling is most injurious to business in times of depression and appropriate legislation would follow."

Irregular Advance in Bonds Achieved

New York, Oct. 9. An irregular advance was achieved in the bond market today. U. S. Treasury issues naturally declined as secondary bonds advanced. Operation of the National Credit Corporation is expected to alleviate bearish influences, or even eliminate them, and the upturn in bond prices is simply discounting this expectation.

Profit Taking Is Seen on Big Curb

New York, Oct. 9 (AP)—Profit-taking toned down the curb market ... but trading turned dull under a moderate amount of selling and the price structure held steady to firm. Volume was moderate. Realizing sales held the utilities in check during the greater part of the day.

—STATE ST.— Hears:

That the promise of constructive events has wrought a tremendous reversal in sentiment. Situations labeled as bargains by competent observers at the start of the week are no longer passed by, and brokers report an increasing demand from cash buyers. Rails were in active demand on receipt of news indicating the rate increase will be announced after the close on Saturday.

Market Status

Resume of happenings this week, in so far as they are directly related to the market, show that the two dangerous factors have been removed. First the threat of liquidation is staved off indefinitely because of the formation of a pool to discount loans. Secondly fear of ... the stringent rule of the stock exchange. The conclusion of bankers surveying these developments is that the powers that be are desirous of a quiet market, devoid of the spectacular, and calculated to restore confidence.

Because of the outline presented above it is the firm conviction of reliable informants that the price structure will be established at a level not far from the closing on Thursday. When this has been accomplished it is expected that a slow, careful rise will be permitted.

September Output of Island Creek Up

Two big Boston coalers made production reports public today. In September Island Creek Coal Co mined 419 101 tons of coal, compared with 393,015 tons in August and with 564,708 tons in August 1930. In September Pond Creek Pocahontas Co. mined 111 732 tons of coal, compared with 119 370 tons in August, 112,236 tons in September, 1930.

Today's News of Live Stocks in Wall Street

PROFIT-TAKING was quickly absorbed in Wall Street trading today, and the market's advance resumed. Railroads held their long-sustained position of leadership.

Coca-Cola Losing Its Fear of Beer

It was evident again today that Coca-Cola stockholders had lost their reputed fear of competition by legalized beer. Although the stock sold off a couple of points in the profit-taking period, it soon showed a gain of around 3 points.

Detroit Edison Is Among High Fliers

Confidence in the public utilities is growing anew. Consolidated Gas was well taken today and Detroit Edison joined the high fliers quickly mounting around 8 points.

Telephone Showing Improved Resistance

American Telephone has lately been showing improved resistance to all sorts of selling and today's action proved no exception when it speedily made up most of a 2-point decline after the first hour profit-taking was concluded by those who had bought early into the rapid rise.

Too Small to Mean Anything Just Now

Too small to mean anything just now, another set of figures long lacking stock market importance has been given out. They show loans on stocks and bonds to brokers and dealers by reporting Federal Reserve Banks in New York city decreased $171,000,000 during the week ended October 7 to a new low record of $1,101,000,000. This compares with the previous low of $1,172,000,000 last week and with $2,905,000,000 on October 8, 1930.

Furniture Buying Improvement Noted

Youngstown, O., Oct. 9—A rising tide of metal furniture buying is reported this week by General Fireproofing Co., one of the country's largest fabricators of steel and aluminum office equipment. Three orders alone involve $100,000.

Zonite Products to Build Quebec Plant

New York, Oct 9 (AP)—The Zonite Products Corp., Ltd., Canadian subsidiary of the Zonite Products Corp., has arranged to erect a plant at Ste Terese, Que. The building is expected to be completed by next April.

TONNAGE SALES OF A & P UP

Sales of The Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Co for the four week period ending September 26 were $74,641,542. This compares with $77,019,441 for the same period in 1930, and is a decrease of $2,377,899 or 3.09 per cent.

More goods were sold during the September period in 1931 than in the same period a year ago as shown in the estimated tonnage figures. September sales expressed in tons were 411,883 this year, compared with 369,673 in September, 1930. This is a gain in quantity of merchandise sold of 42,210 tons, or 11.42 per cent.

—SPECTATOR— Says:

The triumphal bull procession has carried the stock market to heights which most believed were unattainable only a week ago. Supposedly impregnable resistance levels on the upside were easily shattered under the most aggressive wave of buying seen in some months, not excepting the advance of last Tuesday, which was begun from a much lower level.

Bonds Up

The bond market moved ahead for the third consecutive session, as compared with but two days of advance throughout the entire month of September.

With unquestioned indications that investment confidence is being gradually restored, there is little use to study charts and other market paraphernalia in an effort to determine just where the advance will be checked.

Further Recovery

While the desire of financial interests is to hope for some semblance of stability around current levels, it would occasion little surprise to see stocks stage further recovery.

The growing possibility that an international silver conference will be called in the near future to bolster the current low price of the metal has drawn speculative attention to companies interested in the production of silver.

RAILS AT HEAD OF NEW RISE IN WALL ST.

New York, Oct. 9—Railroad shares were at the head of the new advance made by important shares in trading today on the New York Stock Exchange.

Buying of the carriers was stimulated by rumors in financial circles that the Interstate Commerce Commission would announce its freight rate increase this week, allowing the carriers a substantial part of the increases they are seeking.

ABSORBS PROFIT TAKING

Late realizing halted the upward movement of stocks today, bringing moderate net losses in some utilities and nidustrials and reducing extreme gains of 2 to 8 points in the rails.

U. S. Steel and American Telephone lost a couple of points, while American Can, Allied Chemical, North American, Westinghouse, Loew's and Union Carbide were down one or more.

New York Central retained about 3 of a 5-point rise. Atchison, up 5½ at the top, reduced its gain to about 2. Sales approximated 3,200,000 shares.

Numerous gains of a point or so showed in a wide list. There was a feeling that the rate rail increases might be about half of the total asked, which is 15 cents, when it was announced from Washington that President Hoover was inquiring into means of stabilizing the bonds of carriers, but such an inquiry has been under way for some time.

TAKEN BY SURPRISE

Wall Street was taken by surprise by the increase of 2½ per cent from 1½ in the rediscount rate. The Bank of France quickly put its rate up to 2½ from 2. It was tated in banking circles, however, that the record low rate of 1½ per cent had been unsuccessful in reducing the cost of credit to business generally, had made banking operations less profitable, removing part of the inducement to loan money, and, at the same time, had brought reductions in rates paid on deposit, thus taking away much of the inducement to keep money in the banks.

To low rate, however, had served the purpose of tending to check the flow of unwanted gold to New York, but now that the flow is the other way was no longer needed on that score.

Rapid progress in forming the huge banking pool, and making the authorized amount of the pool $1,000,000,000 instead of $500,000,000, were viewed favorably. Wall st. expects that the credit pool will be in actual operation within the month.

Beverly Bond Award Is Made in Boston

Other bidders were Atlantic Corp., 100.078 for 3¾'s; F. S. Moseley & Co., 100.26 for 4's; National City Corp., 100.16 plus $80 premium for 4's; Merchants National Bank, 100.06 for 4's.

To Combat Piracy in Woolen Trade

New York, Oct. 9 (AP)—Appointment of two committees to survey possible steps to combat design piracy in the woolen industry has been decided upon by representatives of 22 woolen concern and affiliated groups. The decision was reached at a meeting held in the offices of the Design Protection Association.

Hide and Leather Earnings Larger

American Hide & Leather Co. reports for the 12 weeks ended September 19 an operating profit of $29,055, after charging repairs, depreciation, interest on loans, and reserve for taxes, but before adjustment of inventory to market value. This compares with an operating profit of $27,145 for the corresponding period last year.

More Locomotives in Need of Repairs

Class I railroads of this country on September 15 had 6442 locomotives in need of classified repairs or 11.9 per cent of the number on line, according to reports just made to the American Railway Association. This was an increase of 269 locomotives above the number in need of such repairs on Sept. 1.

Shove Mills Vote for Liquidation

Stockholders of the Shove Mills, Fall River, at special meeting, voted to liquidate. Financial report read at meeting, stated that some $85,000 must be raised by sale of the plant to pay off liabilities, which were placed at over $200,000, indicating that the quick assets were slightly better than $100,000.

American Woolen Planning Reopening

American Woolen Co. is planning the reopening of the Globe Woolen Mills at Utica, N. Y. Previously the management had intended to sell the Utica plant, which it is now proposed to use for the manufacture of worsteds.

Small Parks Needed

They Would Round Out Splendid System

We in Boston overlook our wonderful assets.

Experts from foreign fields marvel at our park system.

From Boston Common through Commonwealth Avenue, the Fens, Jamaicaway, to Forest Hills, Franklin Park and Franklin Field, through Columbia Road to Castle Island it exists for miles, beautifying one of the richest real estate areas in the country. It affords recreation amid ideal conditions of beauty and health to millions of men, women and children.

Thanks to Mayor Curley, we now have Columbus Field and the South Boston Strandway. The City Council willing, we soon will have another major parkway improvement, the East Boston Strandway.

Park Commissioner William P. Long has accomplished wonders with the task assigned to him.

Yet Mrs. Eva Whiting White, president of the Women's Educational and Industrial Union, splendid organization, stresses the need of a series of smaller parks in the city proper, closer to the congested districts where "the children of the tenements" need a handy and safe rendezvous for their activities.

The difficulties of obtaining land and of thwarting mercantile development are apparent. But no one begrudges recreational centers for the children. Upon them the future depends.

Perhaps Commissioner Long would find it advisable to call a conference of these fine people interested in civic welfare. They could no doubt agree upon a program that will satisfy this requirement.

Faith in New England

It Is Worth It

Bankers and business executives from fourteen States have come here to make an intensive study of the progressive methods of New England manufacturers and the mercantile stores.

They are interested in modern salesmanship, which has helped to earn for Boston the record of being the greatest retail market in this country in proportion to its population.

They are interested, too, in the research laboratories which have been established by the industrialists to make manufacturing a fine art and to eliminate its expensive waste.

Ten years ago, people said New England had shot its bolt; that it was done. Today its achievements are explored by analysts and experts anxious to copy them in the other great commonwealths.

New England is firmer financially than any other section of this country. Upon that point there is no disagreement whatsoever.

President Hoover's latest plan to consolidate finances that frozen assets may be moved is designed especially for the mid-West, where a chain of bank failures followed the wake of the serious agricultural depression.

The banking situation of New England, as a whole, is firm and liquid. Rumors to the contrary are vicious and false.

Have faith in New England. It is worth it.

A Boost for Copper

A Montana professor is reported to have discovered how to harden copper. If the process can be made profitable, it will be another of those things that will "revolutionize industry."

As everyone knows, there are no germs on copper pennies, for the metal is antiseptic, and blades of copper, guaranteed not to turn at the edge, will be hailed by surgeons and dentists and barbers.

The Egyptians seem to have known the secret of hardening copper. They made of it ripsaws six feet long to cut rock for the Pyramids. The Goths used copper swords two feet long that were very effective—if the victim could be detained long enough to be hacked.

That leads us to ponder on how long we shall have to wait for copper razor blades. If anything adds piquancy to life it is the advent of a new safety blade, and we believe in trying them all.

Have We "Culture"?

Our European critics are gently chided by Andre Maurois, who has returned from an expedition to these shores. He tells them that we do have culture. Not a very high culture, perhaps, nor one widely diffused, but a culture it is, though somewhat primitive.

He winds up on a note of hope, and hints that our present state is like that of Europe's during the Renaissance.

The Renaissance, so far as scholars can find out, produced not much of anything except art. It was not a genteel or refined age, but full of corrupt and brutal ruffians, with a Capone on every throne, almost.

Obviously, we have a long way to go before we get where we want to be. We though we were higher than that, but it seems we have slid back to the Renaissance. But what about Europe? It looks as if she has slid still further back—to the Black Ages.

League Court Reasoning

The Virginian-Pilot, of Norfolk, has been a pro-League Court advocate. But the Court's Austro-German customs union decision seems to have shaken the editor's nerves. He writes:

"The lines of reasoning in the majority and minority opinions of the World Court in the Austro-German tariff union case are available for the present only in condensed summaries, but taken from these, it is apparent that the majority opinion was colored by grounds which critics of the decision will not hesitate to call political.

"There is more than an implication here that the majority judges have concerned themselves with something besides the question of legality—that they have assumed also the mission of estimating the proposed pact's speculative political consequences.

"The decision has armed America's anti-Court bitter-enders with a new and formidable weapon."

Straining at the Leash

If and when European diplomats succeed in their plan to renounce their just debts to Uncle Sam and thus transfer the entire cost of the Great War to the overburdened backs of AMERICAN TAXPAYERS, they will use the funds thus saved in strengthening their military and naval establishments.

Cancellation of the War Debts is the knife with which they would cut the leash that now restrains the European Dogs of War.

Real Americans will never approve the plans of the Cancellationists promulgated by the internationally minded Administration at Washington.

Listen, World!

Having a Grouch

I CAME across a grand phrase in one of Marshall Maslin's articles. He was speaking of woman's superior faith and courage.

Elsie Robinson

"A man," said he, "may groan and give up and be fretful all his day, but a woman cannot afford such extravagances. She must make a little do and must make both ends of life meet, in a gracious uncertainty that, sometime, somehow, all will be well with the Children of Men."

I'm not so sure that I agree with Maslin's notion that woman is a patient, trusting philosopher. When I consider some of the hussies I've known, myself included—I Be that as it may, he certainly scored when he spoke of "such extravagances." The extravagances of groaning and fretting and giving up—

Did you ever stop to think that fretting is an extravagance? Did you ever realize that tantrums and peeves are an actual waste . . . as real and far more serious than the waste of money?

A grouch—that seems an intangible thing—silly and pesty but not really important. But do you know what actually happens inside you when you have a grouch?

Something does happen. An explosion happens . . . an emotional explosion that wrecks and wastes your nervous energy—leaves you weak and drained.

WHEN YOU HAVE A GROUCH YOU POUR DYNAMITE INTO YOUR BLOOD-STREAM AND BLOW YOURSELF TO SMITHEREENS!

Of course the scientists do not call it dynamite. They call it "hormones," but the effect is much the same. Hormones are the chemical secretions of your "ductless glands" . . . the glands which empty their secretions into the blood, instead of externally like the sweat and salivary glands.

You have many such glands. The thyroid, pineal, pituitary, are some of them. The suprarenals—small bodies attached to the kidneys—are others.

The suprarenals are tied up very closely with your nervous system. When you become angry, excited or frightened, they become tremendously busy. Instantly they secrete greater quantities of their particular hormones, which is called "adrenalin"—and pour this secretion into the blood stream. Then, just as exploding dynamite scatters its force through a large area, so the adrenalin, rushing through the blood, spreads its fierce energy through your whole body.

Why does your pulse pound when you're angry? Why do your pupils dilate? Why do you grow scarlet, then pale? Why do you feel so furiously strong—then so suddenly weak and nerveless? That's why. Your glands have shot a tremendous stimulant into your blood . . . a secret dynamite. You've gone through an explosion . . . literally "BLOWN UP." And now, that it's over, you're "SHOT TO PIECES."

"Such extravagances" . . . Marshall Maslin knew his human chemistry when he used that phrase. There's no greater extravagance in the world than emotional waste. You may throw away your money but as long as you "keep up your spirits" you can make a fresh start. But if you've wrecked your spirits, you're certainly in a tight spot.

The next time you want to fly into a tantrum, say to yourself—"Can I AFFORD this anger? Dare I use up this much nervous energy? Is it worth it?"

Nine times out of ten it won't be.

New York Day by Day

Thoughts While Strolling

NEW YORK, Oct. 9—I feel like socking impertinent panhandlers who accost you with: "Say fellow!" With whiskers, Ewing Galloway could pass for Abe Lincoln. Harriet Hoctor grows plump. Baroness Levy, the tennis star. What became of Hilda Spong?

John Golden has the prettiest named secretary in town — Jean Dalrymple. The Park ave. doorman with black ribboned eye glasses. Broadway seems a little more the real Broadway with Sophie Tucker in town. Kent Cooper, a Columbus, Ind., boy, who made good in the city.

That pair of French hat checkers at Dinty Moore's. And the thick brogue of the Hibernian starter. I'm always seeing Pomeranians that suggest Fritzi Scheff and Sealyhams suggesting Charles Evans Hughes. Arthur William Brown's collars are bluer than Percy Hammond's.

That beauty parlor for hands on W. 45th st. Frank Fay has the most graceful hands I ever saw on a man. And Helen Morgan's on a woman. You can't dine out without seeing Karl Kitchen. Or go to a first night and not see Sailing Baruch and Dennis McSweeney.

Funny anything not modern now looks old fashioned. Roy Howard walks pie footed. The New Amsterdam has not been the same to me since the passing of A. L. Erlanger. Nor has the Empire since Frohman died. Odd how vivid personalities beglamour steel and stone.

Bond houses no longer advertise losses are impossible. And not likely to for years. Those sadly fluting frogs in the south end of Central Park at sundown. And the tons of yellow haze over the White Way. Usually find Damon Runyon around Lindy's at night.

Among characters of de luxe speakeasies is the peripatetic jewelry salesman, about the only fortune to dispose of jewelry these days. He carries stock in various pockets and makes it his business to hora in on parties that have grown convivial. The head-waiter or manager may be the accomplice. The big spender with a beautiful doll as a companion is his meat. He jockeys around to showing her some of his wares—"nothing to sell, of course, just carrying these to show a customer in the morning." Jewelry takes on an added glamour to the tipsy. They always want it and with an equally tipsy companion on hand, usually get it.

At the pinnacle of the bull market there were about 700 branch brokerage offices around town, spreading from Wall Street bases. Now they have dwindled to a comparative handful and are as comparatively deserted. The expenses of many branches totaled $4000 a day.

I am told that the first uptown brokerage branch was in the Hotel Astor. In the closing months of 1929 there was scarcely a hotel of consequence in town that did not have its board room—indeed even some quiet family hotels had them. Hospices like the Pennsylvania, Biltmore and Roosevelt had two and three. The new Waldorf was to have nine.

The expense of operating huge brokerage establishments staggers the imagination even in opulent days when stock gambling was rampant. One of the biggest so-called "wire houses" in the Street had an overhead of $100,000 a day. Much of this was due to instant contact with all parts of the world. Members of the firm could pick up receivers among battery on their desk and be in instant telephonic communication with Cincinnati, Kansas City, Denver, Los Angeles, San Francisco and also London, Paris and Berlin.

From the Musical Courier: "Every night through the thick walls there came the muted strains of the most difficult pieces, played with the skill of only a master pianist. Not until recently was it learned that the artist was one of America's most famous writers who swore them to secrecy."

And they laughed when I sat down at the piano.

Just Folks

The Whistle Blew

The whistle blew! The workmen ran
To put their heavy tools away.
The oldest and the youngest man
Seemed glad to greet the close of day.

Upon the street with smile and jest
They joined the homeward journeying throng
To claim a few sweet hours of rest
In spite of care and pain and wrong.

The whistle blew! A man looked out
From the high window where he sat
And murmured as he gazed about:
"It must be nice to quit like that!"
Great care was heavy on his mind,
He fretted over problems grim
And faced a task of sterner kind
The whistle could not end for him.

They could not see him from the street
So high above them all was he,
Who still had endless cares to meet
Yet wished that moment to be free.
They thought themselves the worse oppressed
Who had the dustier tasks to do,
But from their labors they could rest
The moment that the whistle blew.

He watched them as a man looks out
On school boys romping in their play.
They seemed so sturdy and so stout,
So glad to put their cares away,
While he, the rich man, troubled sat
Still taking thought and taking stock,
And wishing he could quit like that
And drop his cares at five o'clock.

Debunking the Sacred Cows

By Claude G. Bowers

Prof. James Henry Rogers of Yale, a political economist, who has spent some time in Europe studying conditions, has written a book on the present depression, in which he traces the depression in part to the prohibitive tariff act, which was forced through the Senate by the Administration with a margin of two votes. He is convinced that the more intelligent of the industrialists now realize that tariff walls which shut them out from foreign markets are not to their advantage. He concludes that:

"Now that industries have become veritable giants high customs tariffs in this country and abroad are becoming ever more burdensome and annoying."

He finds that the world depression is due in a goodly measure to "our own unenlightened policies," and concludes that many of the giant industrialists "are avowedly ready to remove all such obstructions."

And he finds another reason for assuming that the industrialists are beginning to see a new light. The bankers and financiers, with tremendous loans in Europe, are not taking kindly to a policy which makes it impossible for their debtors to trade with us and make enough money to pay their debts.

He is unable, also, to look upon a policy as "the American system," which is driving American factories beyond our tariff walls where American money employs foreign workingmen, who spend the American money they get as wages with foreign business men.

Foreign Trade Loss Due to Grundy Bill

Industrials are losing their foreign trade because of the Grundy bill; bankers are trembling over their loans abroad because of the Grundy bill; and Dr. Rogers finds that the "American workingman," of whom we have heard so long, is now cured of the notion that the prohibitive tariffs operate for him. He says:

"While 7,000,000 of his (workingman's) number walk the streets and hitch-hike the highways in search of nonexistent jobs, he is gradually learning that our high protective tariff, which from time immemorial has been pledged to keep his dinner pail full, not only is responsible for prolonging and aggravating the present unparalleled depression, but is likewise, at least indirectly, causing the migration of a highly important portion of American industry itself."

If the workingman has not learned as much he lacks the intelligence we think he has.

Americans Have Big Capacity for Bunk

The American people have had an almost unlimited capacity for bunk, if fed with a golden spoon by the few who benefit from the bunk and own the spoon. For years we heard of "infant industries" as an excuse for high tariffs; and when the steel, wool, aluminum and other industries, favored by the tariff, were swaggering giants. Then we began to hear of "the protection of American labor." It has always seemed strange to some of us that workingmen took this bunk from the golden spoon even when they knew that the "infant industries" were maintaining recruiting offices in the cheap labor markets of Europe to get cheap foreign labor to displace the American workingman.

The tariff myth was as grotesque as the prosperity myth of 1928—but it was sacrosanct. It is still so much of a Sacred Cow that neither the U. S. Chamber of Commerce or the American Federation of Labor, in their reports on conditions, dared suggest a downward revision of the Grundy graft.

The Prosperity Myth in the Coolidge Regime

Another book has just been written by Dr. T. E. Gregory, professor of banking in the University of London, which deals with the prosperity myth of the latter part of the Coolidge regime. In an attempt to be encouraging to us in America he assures us that we have as much national wealth now as before the crash of the market and the tumbling of stocks. Or, to put it in another way, the real wealth of the United States was no greater when the stock market was soaring to the skies than now when the stocks are down. Our own business men and bankers, reassuring the public, are saying the same thing.

And yet in 1927 and 1928, when the stocks were absurdly, insanely high, we were told that this was evidence of the increase of wealth under the wise management of the statesmen of the party in power. The American people took that bunk served in the golden spoon in the campaign of 1928. When the opposition pointed to the condition of the farms, to the increasing unemployment even then, the people in power in Washington pointed to the price of stocks, the "increase in the nation's wealth" as an answer.

In New York city thousands of merchants who had always voted for Al Smith for governor voted against him for President "to maintain prosperity."

The Time for Business Men to Speak Out

It is too bad that the United States Chamber of Commerce did not have the courage of its convictions or was too much moved by partisan considerations to recommend a downward revision of the tariff in its report. Julius Barnes once said, quite likely correctly, that had to be a downward revision; and then a few days later he said he meant there should be a downward revision maybe through the operations of the flexibility clause. This would take years.

Business men generally return from Europe with the same tale —the tariff must come down. Mr. Wiggin, of the Chase National Bank, has no doubt about it. Now, if these men think that the business interest of the country demands a downward revision now, they should say so bluntly, and to Mr. Hoover, who cannot see it at all. If business men continue to put their superannuated party theories above the interest of the country, it is just too bad for business.

Chamber of Commerce for Unemployment Insurance

But the report of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce has not a few pleasing features. It concludes that some form of unemployment insurance must be devised. And it makes it clear that the clamor against the anti-trust laws does not mean that business asks the wiping out of all laws against combinations in restraint of trade. So we are not going to make private monopoly a national policy after all. All we are asked to do, according to the report, is so to revamp the trust laws as to make it possible for industries to enter into agreements among themselves to prevent production far in excess of possible consumption.

What Has Become of the Federal Trade Commission?

Many will be puzzled at one of the things asked in the report. Nineteen years ago Woodrow Wilson said there should be a governmental authority to end vicious business practices and protect honest business and to inform business men planning an innovation what they could do under the law. When President he created that authority, the Federal Trade Commission. Now comes the Chamber of Commerce asking for "some governmental agencies" to which business may apply in advance of a combination to determine its rights.

What has become of the Federal Trade Commission? Is it defunct?
